CLOSE CALL ON SET FOR ACTRESS SHARON TATE

San Rafael's Main Post Office Moving

The familiar post office at Third and D Streets will not be closed. It will remain in business as the Mission branch of the new main post office at 40 Bellam Boulevard.

Service to patrons at the old office will be unchanged, Postmaster Warren H. Williams said. But mail sorting and dispatch of carriers will all be at the new location, beginning Monday.

The new post office on Bellam Boulevard, costing $730,000, was built by Southern California Industries and leased to the Post Office Department. It has about 37,000 square feet of floor space on a lot containing 112,000 square feet. Construction was started last November.

Postmaster Williams will move his headquarters to the new building. In charge at the Mission branch will be Edward Burdisso, who has been superintendent of the Kentfield branch post office. John M. Bodenhamer succeeds Burdisso at Kentfield.

The new post office will be dedicated at 3 p.m. on Sept. 17, Williams announced. Among guests expected to attend, he said, are Rep. Donald H. Clausen, R-First District; State Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-Marin; Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-Marin-Sonoma; Raymond R. Holmquist, San Francisco regional director of the Post Office Department, and Robert L. Refiel, president of the California Postmasters.

"The new facility," said Wiliams, "will be a link with a postal system that today has over 45,000 postal installations. This system serves more than 180 million Americans and handles over two-thirds of the world's mail. Our 590,000 postal employees are handling about 73 billion pieces of mail a year."

The postmaster used the move as occasion to cite some statistics on the growth of postal business in San Rafael. Ten years ago, he said, San Rafael Post Office revenue was $453,961; last year, it was $1,265,186. Receipts from the first year's operation of the San Rafael Post Office, established in 1851, were about $275.

During the last decade, the number of employees has increased from 141 to 233; the number of postal vehicles, from eight to 48; the number of carrier routes from 27 to 61, and the number of collection boxes, from 87 to 184.

Delving into history, Williams found he is the 18th postmaster since San Rafael got its post office 115 years ago. The first was Moses Stoppard.

No Decision Made In Filing Murder Charge

Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales met today with a member of the State Criminal Identification and Investigation Bureau, but said he did not plan to file a complaint today in the murders of Mr. and Mrs. Everett F. Zimmerman.

He said decision whether to file a charge against Robert D. Sidbeck, 18-year-old Marine now in Memphis, Tenn., is still awaiting results of C.I.I laboritory tests of evidence.

The C.I.I. man Fred Wynbrandt, was to be taken by Bales and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos to the scene of the slayings, the San Antonio Creek Road farm residence of the Zimmermans.

Bales said the site visit would be to better orientate Wynbrandt with the murder circumstances. Five sheriff's officers headed by Undersheriff Sidney Stinson also went to the Zimmerman ranch area this morning. Stinson said the planned to search more intently a mile-long creekbed area for the murder weapon and other clues. No weapon has been found.

SHOTGUN BANDITS ROB BUS DRIVER

Shotgun-wielding bandits struck again in southern Marin last night, taking $12 from a Greyhound driver alone in his parked bus.

The robbery in Marin City came only two nights after two masked youths with a shotgun attempted to rob Fireside Motel in Alto.

Last night's victim, James T. May of 87 Ethel Avenue, Mill Valley, told sheriff's officers he arrived at the Marin City bus stop at Donahue Street and Drake Avenue at 11:40 p.m.

He was awaiting arrival of another bus at 11:53 p.m. to take transfer passengers to Mill Valley, he said, when two young men approached the front door of his bus, rapped, and told him to open the door.

May, wary because of past robberies in that area, told them to come around to his window. One youth, with a scarf covering his lower face, then displayed a shotgun, May said.

May opened the door. The gunman demanded the bus coin box. May objected it was difficult to remove the box. The youth then demanded his wallet.

The second bandit then boarded the bus, May said. He had a small caliber revolver in his hand and also had a scarf over part of his face. May said he gave them $10 in bus funds and $2 of his own.

He said at this point the awaited bus arrived. The robbers fled with the loot, running toward the 100 block of Drake Avenue.

Driver of the second bus, Russell Sainz, San Francisco, said he saw the pair only briefly.

Both drivers described the bandits as in their early 20s. One was 5 feet, 11 inches tall, and weighing about 165, they said. The other was 5 feet, 8 inches tall. Both appeared to be Negroes, they reported.

Two youths of similar description confronted William L. Campbell, manager of the Fireside Motel, with a shotgun about 4 a.m. Tuesday and demanded money.

They fled, however, when Campbell's wife in an adjacent room shouted, "Get out of here or I'll call the cops." One wore a nylon stocking mask, and the other had a white cloth sack over his head and shoulders.

Short Week For Some Employees

It will be a short week for city, county and state employees, and for pupils who have already started school, with an Admission Day holiday tomorrow on the heels of a Labor Day holiday.

Schools in the San Rafael, Dixie and Reed school districts, which opened Tuesday, will be closed.

Other schools in Marin, except high schools in Tamalpais High School District, will open Monday. The three high schools in the Tamalpais district will have a half-day orientation session for freshmen and new students Monday and the first full day Tuesday.

City, county and sate offices and banks will be closed tomorrow in observance of California's admission to the union.

Since it is not a federal holiday, there will be normal mail delivery.

Parking meters will not be enforced in San Rafael and Mill Valley, but there will be no meter holiday in Sausalito, where parkers have to pay every day.

Most retail stores, particularly grocery stores will be open. The Independent-Journal will be published as usual.

LBJ Says Boom Must 'Cool Off'

Would Suspend Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said today it's time for the booming economy to be "cooled off," and asked Congress to suspend temporarly special tax benefits for businessmen building new plants and buying new machinery.

Johnson, holding a news conference just as a surprise special message was delivered to Congress, proposed a 16-month suspension of the 7 per cent investment credit for business and of special tax write-off speedups Congress voted in 1954.

Both moves would be retroactive to Sept. 1.

Administration-sponsored legislation would call for the two types of tax benefits to go back into effect automatically Jan. 1, 1968.

The President also promised a concerted hold-down on federal spending. He called on the Federal Reserve Board and private banks "to cooperate with the President and the Congress to lower interest rate and to ease the inequitable burden of tight money."

Johnson also held out the pos-

Cong Terrorists Aim At Election

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Viet Cong terrorists killed at least six persons and injured more than 20 today in scattered attacks aimed at wrecking election machinery and frightening as many as possible of South Viet Nam's five million voters from the polls Sunday.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, in a roundabout discourse with newsmen, put himself back in the list of possible candidates for the presidency in the creation of a new government due next year. He said in effect he was reconsidering his decision to return to military duty and might run if he is drafted by the assembly because of the refusal of his first choice, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, to become a candidate. Thieu is chief of state in the present military regime.

While U.S.officials sought to determine whether saboteurs or a short circuit might have caused a million-dollar fire that destroyed one American military warehouse and damaged another before dawn, the Viet Cong tried again to block the main shipping channel to Saigon.

The most savage in a series of operations by Communist agents to sabotage the election Sunday of a 117-member Constituent Assembly was staged at a village southwest of Saigon. A

Atlanta Alert For Further Negro Rioting

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — While police maintained an alert against further rioting by Negroes, city officials and white and Negro community leaders sought today to pinpoint causes and prevent a recurrence.

Ten Negroes were jailed yesterday after police broke up a leaflet-distribution gathering at the spot where several hours of violence began the day before, shattering the city's image of racial harmony.

'NOT PERFECT'

But the day was primarily one of meetings. A major point of discussion was what to do about Stokely Carmichael and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, which he heads.

"Atlanta is not by far a perfect city but it is too great to be destroyed by simple-minded bigotry," said the Rev. Samuel Williams, local president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

He spoke after a two-hour meeting of the Atlanta summit conference, a body of Negro leaders from various organizations.

Many of those present were critical of the SNCC role in the rock-and-bottle-throwing, burning and overturning of vehicles which erupted Tuesday after an Atlanta policeman shot a fleeing Negro man, now hospitalized in fair condition.

'MAIN CONCERN'

"Our main concern here is Stokely Carmichael," said the Rev. Otis Smith, "whether or not we have a riot is up to him."

Carmichael was in the area before the rioting began but was not seen there later. Two SNCC members, William Ware and Bobby Vance Walton, 20, were arrested during the disturbance on charges of inciting to riot.

Replying to the criticism, Carmichael said, "SNCC did not and could not start a rebellion."

"This was started by an act," he said in a statement to a radio station (WAOK), "a white policeman shooting down a black man in a black community."

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

FDR Jr. Liberal's Choice

NEW YORK (UPI)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. was all set today to accept the New York gubernatorial nomination of the party of his choice. His second choice, that is.

Roosevelt

Rebuffed by the Democrats, who sent his father to Albany 38 years ago in what proved to be the stepping stone to 12 years of presidential power, FDR Jr., agreed last night to run for governor on the Liberal ticket.

The Liberal Party, which normally endorses the Democratic candidate, is pursuing an independent course in this year's election and will place Roosevelt's name in nomination at its state convention here tonight. He is expected to win easily.

O'Connor

The chief victim of Roosevelt's decision is almost certain to be Frank D. O'Connor, who was nominated for governor by acclamation on the first ballot last night at the Democratic Party's state convention in Buffalo.

Political observers estimate that FDR Jr., endowed with a name that still commands great respect in heavily Democratic areas, could draw as many as 600,000 votes, the vast majority of which would otherwise go to O'Connor.

Various polls have indicated O'Connor has a sizable lead over Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Miss California Wins Title

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Miss California, the little girl who almost wasn't there, took the talent title last night, and Miss New Hampshire parlayed a 35-22-35 figure into a swim suit win in the first night of Miss American competition.

Charleen

Watching Miss New Hampshire, Nancy Anne Naylor, walk off with the bathing suit trophy was her father, an Air Force career officer back from Southeast Asia on a surprise visit.

Another Private Due Trial

FORT DIX, N.J. (AP)—A second soldier faces general court-martial today for refusing to go to Viet Nam. The first, Pvt. Dennis Mora of New York, was sentenced yesterday to three years of hard labor, a dishonorable discharge and foreiture of pay.

Mora

Mora, 25, stood at attention yesterday as his sentence was passed by a 10-officer court after 18 minutes of deliberation. Seconds later, he was smiling at his family in the court room.

A defense attorney said the verdict would go through military appellate procedures, then would be appealed to the U.S. Military Court of Appeals, composed of three civilian judges appointed by the President.

Today, Pfc. James Johnson, 20, also of New York, goes on trial for the same charge.

A third soldier is being held in the Fort Dix stockade awaiting trial on similar charges. He is Pvt. David Samas, 20, of Modesto.

Pushed From Plane

TOKYO (AP) — The injured pilot of a small plane which landed on fire in Hokkaido told police today his male passenger started a fire, pushed the passenger's female companion out of the plane door and jumped out. The girl, Yuko Sato, 19, hostess, fell about 600 feet to her death. Pilot Yoshihiko Imamura, 49, was burned. The body of the male passenger, Akira Kodaka, 64, was found near a river.

Brown Asks Welfare Program Of Training

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown, hoping to turn the welfare tide in California, today proposed a retraining program to put a halt to the state's "off-and-on" welfare cycle.

The governor, campaigning for a third term, said in a statement prepared for a news conference that it would cost $60 million in federal and state funds.

But, he said, the job training and placement program could drastically change the lives of up to 20,000 persons now without jobs.

Brown said 40,000 jobs are "going begging" in California. He called it a "tragic paradox that with a rising demand for labor thousands of employable men and women go without jobs and must depend upon welfare for subsistence."

The Democratic governor has come under attack from the Republicans for his liberal welfare policies. And recently liberals within his own party have been unhappy with Brown's answer to critics from both sides of the political spectrum.

Under the proposal, welfare recipients would be sent to training schools to learn such elementary skills as reading, work habits, money management, and, in the case of mothers, homemaking and child skills.

Then, the prospective worker would be tested and counciled. His ambitions and potential would be matched against job vacancies. He then would go into a training class for his occupation.

The governor made the announcement as he opened the fourth day of his general election campaign kickoff week.He planned a handshaking tour of the Lodi grape vineyards later in the day.

His campaign got a financial boost last night from singer-actor Frank Sinatra and his "clan." They put on a Hollywood-style gala before an estimated 7,000 at the huge San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

Campaign officials estimated the gala and a dinner which preceeded it neted $175,000 to Brown's campaign coffers. The audience paid $125 a plate for the dinner and $5 to $25 each just to watch the show.

Comedian Joey Bishop was master of ceremonies.

Others in the show were comedians Rowen and Martin and Singers Dean Martin, Connie Francis, Ella Fitzgerald, Trini Lopez—and Sinatra himself.

De Gaulle To Eat Roast Pig Then Watch A-Bomb Blast

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — Some of the adventures enjoyed by HMS Bounty's Fletcher Christian during the fabled Pacific era of wind-driven frigates and uncharted paradise were on tap today for visiting French President Charles de Gaulle.

The 75-year-old French leader was to feast on pit-roasted suckling pig and breadfruit at a "tamaaraa" and watch the shapely brown wahines of this island paradise undulate to the hollow rhythms of wooden drums.

Then past and present were to quickly unmerge.

Following an afternoon nap, De Gaulle was to awaken back in the nuclear age and prepare to sail off to watch France explode above a Pacific atoll a weapon Christian and his 18th century mutineers would never have comprehended —the atomic bomb.

There was, however, only a 25 per cent chance the A-bomb suspended from a balloon over the Mururoa test center 800 miles southeast of Tahiti would be detonated as scheduled on Saturday. Prevalent bad weather also threatened to ban the blast Sunday, De Gaulle's final day in the Pacific before winding up his three-week, worldwide tour via Mexico and Guadeloupe en route to Paris.

50 Die In Floods

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — At least 50 persons, most of them children, are believed to have drowned in the last two days as floods continue to surge through the Dacca and Narayanganj districts of East Pakistan, press reports said today.

South Africa Slates Rites For Verwoerd

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI) —The body of Prime Minister Hendrik F. Verwoerd was being flown today to South Africa's administrative capital for a state funeral Saturday.

Verwoerd, who would have been 65 today, was assassinated in Parliament at Cape Town Tuesday by Dimitri Tsafendas, a knife-wielding religious fanatic.

Verwoerd's widow, Betsy, asked that detailed plans for the flight from Cape Town today aboard a military plane be kept secret until after the plane landed.

The state airline meanwhile prepared to fly 588 members of Parliament, diplomats and other prominent persons to Pretoria for the funeral. Verwoerd will be buried according to the rites of the Dutch Reformed Church.

A security blackout was imposed on the detention of Verwoerd's assassin. W. M. van den Bergh, attorney general of Cape Town Province, said he would not decide whether the 45-year-old Tsafendas should appear at a summary trial until he had received a formal police report on the fatal stabbing of Verwoerd.

Police in Cape Town were expected to keep Tsafendas in custody under South Africa's 180-day detention without charge law while they continued their investigation into the Mozambique-born drifter's strange background.

Gemini 11 Crew Ready For Mission

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's Gemini 11 astronauts, confident and ready to shatter space records, relaxed today as preparations clicked smoothly toward a doubleheader launch tomorrow.

Project officials gave a go-ahead to fuel the 90-foot-tall, Gemini-Titan 2 rocket this morning. Except for brief meetings with project officials, Gemini 11 pilots Charles Conrad Jr. and spacewalker-to-be Richard F. Gordon Jr. planned only a casual review of their flight plan while relaxing in crew quarters here.

FLIGHT PLAN

"We've endeavored to lay this flight plan out so we have a chance of doing everything," Navy Lt. Cmdr. Gordon said, "and we think we've got that chance. I couldn't ask for a better flight."

Goals of their planned 71-hour mission include a rapid rendezvous with the Agena target satellite on Gemini 11's first orbit using the Agena's main engine to scoot them to a record altitude of 863 miles, flying in formation with the Agena while tied to it by a 100 foot cord, and performing an automatic "hands-off" re-entry.

Gordon, 36, rookie astronaut, plans two ventures outside Gemini 11 — a 107-minute stroll during Gemini 11's second day aloft and a 140-minute "space stand" the third day, when the spaceman pops the upper half of his body outside the spaceship to photograph stars.

Navy Cmdr. Conrad, veteran of the eight-day Gemini 5 flight slightly more than a year ago, and Gordon are to blast off at 10:25 a.m. tomorrow, 97 minutes after their Atlas-Agena target rocket roars skyward at 8:48 a.m.

Senate Sends Aid Measure To President

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's foreign aid program is over the hill for this year—but not out of the woods.

After weeks of debate and fussing, a compromise $3.5-billion aid authorization was on its way to the White House today.

But the measure, which previously had been approved by the House, cleared the Senate yesterday by only eight votes —33 to 25. Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which handled the measure, wasn't even there to vote either aye or nay.

But before the Senate gave its approval, one foreign aid critic, Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., was urging that the appropriation measure providing the funds be slashed down. The appropriation follows the authorization bill, which sets ceilings and restrictions on the program, and may set off a new round of debate.

The measure as finally approved was a compromise worked out by a conference committee that reconciled dozens of differences between the Senate and House versions of the program.

Originally, the President had asked for $3,367,000,000 for the aid program—both military and economic.

Soviet Diplomat Spy Deported

NEW YORK (AP) — Valentin A. Revin, 34, the Soviet diplomat the State Department says paid more than $5,000 for dummy "secret" documents from an American scientist, was deported last night.

Revin, accompanied by his wife and daughter, was apparently not under guard as he entered a jet bound for Paris. He refused to talk to newsmen at the airport but smiled frequently and seemed unconcerned.

The State Department said Revin bungled his role as an espionage agent, paying a scientist working for the FBI for information on U.S. military and space programs. All the plans given Revin were cleared by the government agencies involved.

Today they issued this call: Stop the slugs!

Youthful stalkers for science had swamped the division offices with more than 2,000 slugs by late yesterday.

The slugs are to be used by the Orau Lipid Research Group. Lipids, proteins and carbohydrates make up the principal components of living cells.

Mrs. Warschaw No Brown Fan

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Will Mrs. Carmen Warschaw, defeated candidate for the Democratic state chairmanship, vote for Republican Ronald Reagan for governor?

Mrs. Warschaw said Brown promised to back her candidacy, then helped Charles Warren defeat her.

Five National Forest Fires Out Of Control

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Uncontrolled forest fires crackled today over more than 17,000 acres in five national forests, despite an army of 3,500 firefighters.

The largest fire, a 10,000-acre blaze in Klamath National Forest, was moving into rough country and containment appeared a long way off. The U.S. Forest Service said the fire was deliberately set Monday.

Others included a blaze of 2,500 acres in Modoc and Lassen national forests, which are adjacent to each other; one of 3,000 acres in Sierra National Forest; and another of 2,000 acres in Plumas National Forest.

Firefighters hoped for support from aerial tankers on the Klamath fire, burning 75 miles west of Yreka near the Oregon border. Late yesterday afternoon smoke became so thick that the planes were grounded.

That left a force of 1,300 men facing the flames with 18 bulldozers.

The only optimistic report from the U.S. Forest Service was that the Modoc-Lassen fire might be controlled today. A said the country there there dispatcher said the country there was "pretty leve."

The Sierra National Forest fire, burning 45 miles east of Fresno, presented more of a problem. Touched off by lightning Monday, it had climbed from the 2,800 to the 8,600-foot level.

Also in rugged country was the Plumas National Forest fire, 12 miles south of Susanville.

There were three smaller fires, but by nightfall yesterday only a 300-acre blaze still burned uncontrolled near Yosemite National Park.

Powell Carries Gun Frequently

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell says he carries a 38-caliber revolver strapped under his arm much of the time, but he doesn't advocate gun-slinging for all Negroes.

"For one thing," the New York Democrat told newsmen yesterday, "they cost too much."

He said he didn't carry the weapon to the news conference "because I feel I'm among friends."

Asked if he had a District of Columbia permit for the revolver, Powell rattled off the permit serial number.

Annexing Plans Called 'Naked Grab For Taxes'

Plans by the cities of Mill Valley and Tiburon to annex the unincorporated area between them were termed "a simple and naked grab for taxes" and "local colonialism" today by attorney Stephen H. Kaufmann, a resident of Strawberry since 1948.

Kaufmann appeared on the "Marin Sounding Board" program on radio station KTIM with Mayor Albert E. White of Mill Valley and Mayor John S. Hoffmire of Tiburon.

"One thing is certain," Kaufmann said, "this is not an effort to provide services to the residents of Strawberry. Tiburon has made it clear that it won't take Strawberry if it can't get the shopping center, and Mill Valley isn't even attempting to include the residents of Strawberry."

Both cities have filed requests with the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission to annex Strawberry and other areas, and 41 residents of Strawberry, including Kaufmann, have filed with the commission a notice of intention to incorporate as a new city the area within the Strawberry Recreation District.

Kaufmann said he was appearing on the program as an individual, not as a representative of the residents or district. He noted that he has been active in the recreation district for 17 years.

Disputing Kaufmann's claim that Strawberry was being "dragooned" into Mill Valley, Mayor White said that if his city's request were approved by the commission, "it will, by law, go to the voters involved for a final decision."

Annexation to Mill Valley of all unincorporated areas in the "Southern Marin watershed," he said, would promote governmental efficiency and local planning control.

"The Marincellos of Marin County will happen not because they are good or bad, but because planning in unincorporated areas is left to the developers, not to the people," Mayor White declared.

Mill Valley's proposed annexation, which includes portions of Tennessee Valley all the way to the Pacific Ocean, would bring "truly representative local government" to residents of the annexation, he said, as well as a host of city services, and would eliminate about 40 special districts.

"We believe governmental efficiency and economy demand that areas getting urban services should be in cities," Mayor White continued. "The county should not be in the business of providing municipal services. Unincorporated areas contribute only 30 per cent of county revenues, but get, in some places, 90 to 100 per cent of tax revenues because city taxpayers subsidize them."

Defending Tiburon's annexation request, Mayor Hoffmire insisted that Highway 101 is "the logical boundary" between the two cities. "We're not trying to push anybody into anything," he said. "We'd rather have them come to us."

Anticipating annexation of the rest of the peninsula, the Tiburon City Council has left two vacancies on its parks and recreation commission and one on its planning commission to be filled by residents of unincorporated areas when they annex to the city, Mayor Hoffmire said.

"The issue," Kaufmann said, "is where can municipal corporations grab taxes?"

Disputing Mayor White's statement that owners of more than half of the assessed valuation in the annexation either had requested or agreed to annexation to Mill Valley, Kaufmann said the assessed value of the tax-exempt Golden Gate Baptist Seminary "is being used to offset obligations of property owners who do pay taxes—a patent inequity."

"Not a single resident of Strawberry wants to join Mill Valley," Kaufmann insisted. "The residents want to retain the integrity of their community."

The program, conducted by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

sibility that "further longer-range actions may prove necessary" in the future to combat inflation and finance the war in Viet Nam.

Presumably he had in mind mandatory curbs on wages and prices, but he did not specify.

The President said a decision on any additional action cannot be made until Congress completes action on eight remaining appropriation bills and until the Pentagon knows how much extra money it will need for the Viet Nam war.

In his message to Congress, the chief executive said "there has been an exaggerated boom in business invesment" in new productive facilities.

Under the tax credit plan, which was voted by Congress in 1962, business deduct from their income tax bills 7 per cent of the cost of most machinery and equipment. This measure originally was designed to encourage business invesment in more modern, efficient facilities in order to spur the economy.

There have been recent arguments that too much spending is putting inflationary pressure on the economy and helping push up the price of credit.

Admitting that the spur at this time is a little stronger than the government feels is wise, Johnson told reporters it would be unwise to continue paying a bonus to people for building things the government doesn't want built.

Postman Finds Injured Woman

The alertness of Sausalito postman Edward Madsen led to finding Mrs. Jessie Kroencke, about 60, on the floor of her home three days after she had fallen there, the Independent-Journal learned today.

Madsen said he went to Mrs. Kroencke's house at 321 Tomales Street Sept 1 to deliver a registered letter. As he knocked on the door, someone called, "come in."

Madsen reported he looked in the bedrooms, which are in the front of the house, and could find no one, then found Mrs. Kroencke on the living room floor.

Mrs. Kroencke said she had fallen Aug. 27, then got back onto her couch, but again fell on Aug. 30. She was reported in fair condition today at Kaiser It said thhat he must pay $87 a Hospital, San Francisco.

District Asks Bids

Fontez Sees Interest Rise Not Critical

County Treasurer-Tax Collector Stanley J. Fontez is less alarmed than some over the rising interest rate on school district bonds.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney has cautioned school districts to award no construction contracts until bonds are sold. The reason: interest rates are spiraling toward the 5 per cent maximum permitted under state law.

Fontez declared today that the spiral is not going up at as fast as Maloney fears. He said he thinks any real crisis is "about two years away."

The treasurer-tax collector said school districts might run into trouble sooner with small issues, and in areas with poor tax bases.

Fontez said Maloney was incorrect in saying Marin has a triple-A credit rating. San Joaquin County is the only one in the state with such a rating. Marin's is a double-A rating, Fontez said.

government spokesman said the Communist agents killed a government security agent, his wife and three children.

About 300 Buddhist monks and nuns of a militant minority opposing the government and the election launched a three-day fast to promote a boycott of the polls. Loudspeakers at a Saigon pagoda proclaimed: "A vote on Sunday will be a vote against Viet Nam."

While air squadrons carried the main load of allied offensive operations, lessened ground activity was reflected in a reduction of casualties on both sides last week from the week of Aug. 21-27. The U.S. Command announced 74 Americans were killed in combat, 570 wounded and 10 missing or captured. Over all, allied deaths were listed as 187, against 885 enemy dead. For the war, spokesmen placed the total of Americans killed at 4,993.

In Tokyo, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said he believed the Communists have lost more than 100,000 men from combat, disease and desertion this year. Replacements "By the painfully slow methods of infiltration under air attack must present a very serious problem to the enemy leaders," the retired chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff and former ambassador to Saigon said in a luncheon address. He said, however, more U.S. troops and more air strikes will be needed to bring North Viet Nam to terms.

U.S. Navy officials said expanding demands of the war have so altered original estimates of U.S. construction programs in Viet Nam that $200 million more will be required to complete projects already on the books.

Rock Group Wins Crown At Festival

The Golden Fleece Debating Society, a rock and roll group composed of four Marin high school youths and one from Petaluma, won the amateur talent contest of the San Rafael Autumn Festival last night at Albert Park and will appear there tomorrow night with the We Five and Sing Out '66 professional groups.

Two young musicians from San Rafael finished second and third in the amateur contest and will also appear tomorrow night at Albert Park, where the show will start at 7 p.m.

The Debating Society (a name almost misleading as those of other Bay Area groups, The Grateful Dead and the Jefferson Airplane) include Rick Mann, vocalist; Steve Rangchop, first guitar; Dave Ganapoler, second guitar; Bill Yearsley, third guitar, and Craig Smith, drums. The first three attend Terra Linda High School, while Yearsley attends Petaluma High and Smith attends Marin Catholic High.

Brian Smith, 10-year-old accordionist from San Rafael won second place and Margaret Hartman, 13, took third for her piano playing. A crowd of about 300 watched the contest, according to Jack Alvarado, manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

The top festival activity today is the James Brothers circus performances at Northgate Industrial Park, on the east side of Highway 101, at 4 and 8 p.m.

In addition to the music at Albert Park tomorrow, the San Rafael canal area will also be alive with festival events. A free yacht tour will navigate the canal and Stan's Skin Diving Club will demonstrate their techniques from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the San Rafael Yacht Club. A cable car shuttle car will take boat ride patrons from the courthouse on Fourth Street to the yacht club every half hour from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The yacht sales offices will be open to visitors and there will be special marine demonstrations at Seaway Marine.

SLAYING

their cars was stolen. It was found later, abandoned on a San Francisco street, and in it was a bicycle which sheriff's officers traced to the neighborhood of Sidbeck's home at 404 San Francisco Boulevard, San Anselmo. They said Sidbeck had told of losing $100 Marine Corps transporation money the night before the slayings, but the following day took a bus to Memphis.

Two sheriff's inspectors are in Memphis awaiting possible filing of a complaint.

John Everett Zimmerman, Point Reyes Station veternarian and son of the slain couple, yesterday filed petition for probate of Zimmerman's last will in Marin Superior Court.

The Jan. 27, 1948, will listed holdings as the 350-acre ranch, 77 dairy cows, 55 other cattle, trucks, a car, and a tractor. It named Mrs. Zimmerman as executrix.

The petition, however, says there is no real estate. It estimates the Zimmermans' personal property value at $42,000, plus $5,000 annual income.

The son also petitioned for letters of administration in the death of Mrs. Zimmerman. She left no known will. Hearings on the petitions were scheduled for 10 a.m. Sept. 19 before Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

Lumber Firms Agree To Park Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five lumber companies agreed today to quit cutting prime redwood trees in the northern California area being considered for a redwood national park.

Sens. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., announced the agreement and said it covers both the Mill Creek area advocated by the Johnson administration for a park and the redwood creek area proposed by the Sierra Club.

Jackson, chairman of the Senate Interior Committee, and Kuchel, ranking Republican member, told a news conference that the five companies, in moving their operations, agreed to consult with the National Park Service as to the prospective park quality of trees they propose to fell.

The agreements, Jackson said, were advanced voluntarily and at no cost to the government by the Rellim-Miller Redwood Co., the Arcata Redwood Co., Simpson Timber Co., Georgia-Pacific Corp. and Pacific Redwood Co.

Fine Dropped In Accidental Deer Slaying

The accidental killing of a doe with a bow and arrow in a Novato backyard Tuesday drew a suspended $50 fine and 90 days probation yesterday for Gary McEnery, 20, in West Marin Justice Court.

McEnery told the court he had found the doe in his backyard at 488 Ridge Road and tried to drive it out. He said he aimed an arrow ahead of the doe, but it leaped into the arrow's path and fell dead. McEnery promptly reported the incident to Game Warden Alfred Giddings and turned in the carcass.

Giddings told the court that even more unusual than the killing with the bow and arrow was its being reported. "Never before in all my career," Giddings said, "has anyone ever volunteered such information."

Judge David R. Baty then imposed the mild sentence.

Change Plea In Sewage Ordinance

The Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board yesterday asked Marin Supervisors to amend an ordinance which allows dumping of sewage from houseboats in Richardson Bay.

Only 13 of the 131 houseboats and other dwellings in the Waldo Point area have occupancy permits issued under the ordinance, Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows said today.

There are 17 other applications on file for permits which allow dumping of raw sewage from the dwelling.

The control board letter says the matter of Waldo Point sewage will be taken up at the board's Oct. 20 meeting in Oakland.

The letter reminds county supervisors that a cease and desist order has been issued, that formation of an assessment district by the Sausalito-Marin City Sanitary District has been delayed and that Donlon Arques is considering a private sewer treatment plan for his property.

"There is an apparent need for a coordinated effort," the control board letter said. It was signed by John B. Harrison, the board's executive officer.

Admits Car Theft

Merton W. Spaulding, 21, pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court yesterday to stealing a vehicle owned by Elizabeth Morris, 18 Santa Barbara Avenue, San Anselmo, on Aug. 9. He is to be sentenced Sept. 27.

Mill Valley To Initiate Experimental Teaching

Experimental programs in team teaching and non-graded groupings, plus a class for the educationall handicapped, will be initiated this school year in the Mill Valley School District.

"Sequential units of instruction in reading" will be developed at Alto School. This is expected to enable pupils to be regrouped by mid-year to work on a non-graded basis.

Joseph Womack, Strawberry Point school principal, and Asst. Supt. Logan T. Miles head the faculty at Alto. Programs will be divided into two teams: kindergarten through second grade and third through fifth grades.

Emotionally handicapped children will be placed in a class in a small room at Park school to be taught by Michael D. Healy, who was school psychologist last year. Mill Valley will be one of two districts in Marin County providing such a special class, Supt. G. R. McConnell said.

Healy hopes to have student interns from San Francisco State College to assist him.

Teachers from other schools will work with seventh and eighth grade teachers at Edna Maguire School this year on "learning activities" appropriate for sixth graders.

Alto sixth graders will spend part of their day later in the fall semester participating in Edna Maguire seventh grade classes. The experiment is being conducted in connection with the school board's interest in establishing a "middle school" for sixth, seventh and eighth grades.

Enrollment is expected to exceed 3,500. Some children will be bused from their own neighborhoods to schools where seats are available, because class sizes have been lowered slightly since last school year.

Fifteen portable classrooms will be in use in the district. Three of these were provided by the federal government for use as libraries.

Disaster Averted In Ship Sinking

HJOERRING, Denmark (UPI) —An intrepid Norse captain and a swift air-sea rescue armada were credited today with averting disaster when the one-year old Norwegian ferry Skagerak foundered and sank yesterday in storm-whipped seas.

Only one of the 144 persons aboard the 2,726-ton vessel was known dead —an unidentified elderly Norwegian tourist who died either of shock or drowning.

"It was a miracle," said one of the survivors plucked from frigid waters between Norway and Denmark by helicopters and ships.

PROTEST PARK—More than 6,000 Del Norte County residents turned out at the Crescent City fairgrounds to protest proposed emergency legislation which would halt cutting by Miller-Rellim Co. of redwood trees in an area which lies within a proposed national park boundary. (AP Wirephoto)

Telephone Pact Breaks Guideline

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The agreement that averted a nationwide telephone strike would give communications workers a 7 per cent increase in wages and benefits.

The settlement was announced here.

CWA President Joseph A. Beirne said the settlement represented a 7 per cent wage-benefits increase. He called it the best contract ever negotiated in the communications industry.

The union previously had rejected a company offer of a boost it estimated at 3.4 per cent.

The proposed contract now must be ratified by mail by 23,000 Western Electric employees across the country. The process was expected to take three weeks and approval was expected.

Negotiations between the union and individual state Bell Systems will begin almost immediately.

Bay Region Airport Predicted

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A report to the Bay Area Conservation and Development Commission predicts a regionally financed airport in eastern Alameda County or in Contra Costa, Solano or Sonoma counties.

Clifford W. Graves drew the plan for the commission which is being asked to approve filling the bay to expand the San Francisco and Oakland airports.

Graves said that for the next decade the only feasible solution would be permitting the bay fill.

But in the future, he said, new and larger planes are going to make necessary larger airports. He suggested that "the Santa Rosa plain and Solano County may make ideal regional airport sites" for an airport that may be as large as 15,000 acres.

San Francisco voters are being asked to approve a $95 million bond issue to enable International Airport to handle an expected 18 million passengers in 1970.

In the years to come, Graves said, modernization of the airport might cost $280 million, which he called "an enormous financial burden for a city of 750,000 people."

But It's Paid For

LOUISVILLE (AP) — An ancient jalopy, often parked in the downtown area, has these words painted on the trunk lid: "Out of Date — but Out of Debt."

Congress Lumber Stop Attempt Protested

CRESCENT CITY (AP)—Crescent City's population nearly doubled yesterday as more than 5,000 persons rallied in protest of congressional attempts to halt a logger's operation within the area of a proposed national park.

Businesses closed their doors and Del Norte High School recessed for the two-hour rally in this little logging town on the Northern California coast.

Speaker after speaker told the noisy crowd that Del Norte County's economy would be crippled if Congress passes a resolution to stop timber cutting by Miller-Rellim Redwood Co. for one year for a study of possible park sites.

Deputy Sheriff Melvin Murphy estimated the size of the crowd at the county fairgrounds at 5,000, other observers said it was closer to 6,000. In any case, the little logging town's population is only 3,000, the county's 18,000.

Harold Del Ponte, chairman of the board of supervisors, said that if Congress stopped the Miller-Rellim operations, five saw mills would be affected and the county's economy ruined.

"The only booming office in Crescent City will be the unemployment office and the welfare department," Del Ponte said.

Mayor William Peepe of Crescent City pointed out that the federal government already has 437,000 of the 671,000 acres that comprise Del Norte County. Most of the land is within Six Rivers National Forest.

Don Cave, a Eureka businessman, referred to other parks "stretching 130 miles along the Northern California coast."

Cave declared, "We have already saved the redwoods."

The congressional resolution was introduced last Thursday by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., who predicted speedy passage.

The moratorium would give Congress time to consider and act upon pending and conflicting proposals for establishment of the redwood national park in Northern California.

Under terms of the resolution, the government would take easement to timberlands of the logging company in the park areas. Suits would be permitted against the government for just compensation and the secretary of the interior would be authorized to accept contributions toward payment of the compensation determined by the U.S. District Court.

Jury To Hear Evidence In Assault Trial

Jury trial of Donald Melvin Frailey, 26, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon was scheduled in Marin Superior Court yesterday for Nov. 14.

Frailey, of 1364 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, has pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity. Judge Thomas F. Keating appointed two psychiatrists to determine if Frailey was sane.

Frailey is accused of attacking James Evan Sylvas, 19, a truck driver, on June 25 in the 800 block of Fourth Street, San Rafael. Police said he stomped Sylvas.

He is charged also with car theft, and battery on a police officer. Preliminary hearing on those charges was scheduled for today.

Storer Speech Hits Clausen Redwood Bill

The proposed Redwood National Park site in Del Norte County, where Miller-Rellim Co. is being accused of cutting into the future park area, "is the wrong location for a Redwood National Park," Thomas T. Storer of Point Reyes Station told a Labor Day crowd in Eureka.

Speaking at a Humboldt-Del Norte County picnic in Eureka, Storer proposed that the Redwood National Park be located in southern Humboldt County, adjacent to and including Humboldt Redwoods State Park.

Storer criticized Rep. Don H. Clausen for "introducing a bill that would put a 45,000-acre park in a county 400 miles from the Bay Area at a cost of $93 million."

Storer proposed instead a 159,000-acre park in southern Humboldt County "at a distance of only 250 miles from the Bay Area and at a cost of $34 million."

He said the 159,000 acres would include the existing Humboldt Redwoods State Park, Matole Valley, and King Range Seashore, rounded out by the purchase of additional redwoods.

Storer flew over the proposed park area in Del Norte County and reported "the area has been ruined." He had aerial photos taken to back up his contention.

AFTERWARDS INTO A NICE DRY MARTINI?

Directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District are going to find out how many hale are hearty souls live in their district.

The board last night authorized creation of the "Ice Cube Club," a group that will be able to swim for four winter months — November through February—in the district's unheated pool.

For this privilege, the cost will be $15 for a family membership.

"We might not get anyone," said recreation director James Hand, who thawed out the suggestion last night. "On the other hand, the district might make some money."

Death Row Population Now At 60

Charles Robert Coogler, 36, convicted murdered, arrived in San Quentin Prison yesterday to bring the total of inmates in Death Row to 60.

Coogler, of Los Angeles, has been condemned to death on three separate sentences: for the murder of Helen Beal, the murder of Judy Gibson, and kidnaping with bodily harm of Gilbert Montoya. All the offences occurred in Los Angeles earlier this year.

The Death Row tally is scheduled to drop back to 59 next week, when one inmate, William Ford, will go to San Luis Obispo for new sentencing. His first degree murder conviction was recently reduced to second degree by the California Supreme Court.

Brother's Keeper— Dr. Carlson

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"I am my brother's keeper," says Dr. Dwight Carlson, who plans to open a hospital in the Congo in memory of his brother, killed by Congolese rebels.

Dr. Paul Carlson, a medical missionary, was shot to death in Stanleyville two years ago. A year later, a foundation was started in his memory.

Dwight Carlson, a 33-year-old resident physician at Harbor General Hospital, recently traveled 2,500 miles through the Congo looking for a hospital site. With him was his brother's widow, Lois.

They found a 250-bed leprosy and tuberculosis sanatorium built by Belgians, then abandoned when the Congo became independent in 1960.

Opening the hospital will cost $50,000. The Carlson Foundation has $20,000, Mrs. Carlson said yesterday. She and her brother-in-law said they hope to have the facility operating within a year.

Inmates Injured In Second Riot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The second riot at Franklin County's century-old jail in four months resulted last night in considerable property damage and injury to a policeman and three inmates. More than 200 police officers and firemen were rushed to the downtown building.

Mattresses were burned and windows smashed by rampaging prisoners.

It took about an hour to quell the disturbance. Sheriff Stacy Hall said about 75 of the jail's 225 inmates participated.

Hall would not give a specific cause for the outburst but said dissatisfaction with jail food was a factor.

Timetable Scheduled For Bon Air Project

Improvement of the intersection of Bon Air Road and Magnolia Avenue, a major bottleneck and traffic hazard in Larkspur, will begin in two weeks, City Engineer Beverly J. Whitlow told city councilmen last night.

The project to widen the intersection, provide longer turn lanes and widen Bon Air Road between the intersection and the bridge should take about a month to complete, he predicted.

DOHERTY EXTENSION

Also to begin in two weeks and be completed a month later, Whitlow said, is extension of Doherty Drive to Lucky Road.

Contracts for both street projects were awarded last night by the council to Ceccotti and Son of Marin, Corte Madera. The firm was low bidder on the two projects yesterday, at $38,663 on extension of Doherty Drive and $22,476 on reworking the intersection.

Vote on the contract awards was 4-0. Mayor Vaughn M. Marker was absent.

The council confirmed Vice Mayor Earl J. O'Grady's appointment of James M. Corbet as chairman of the proposed five-man sign committee. The committee is to be an advisory body to the planning commission.

Corbet was asked to recommend four other committee members to the council at its next meeting, Oct. 5.

Corbet, a Larkspur merchant, said all five members of the committee should be local merchants so the committee could meet on a moment's notice and avoid "long delays" in recommending sign approval. "The committee should be on the team of the sign owner," he said, "not on the back of the sign owner."

Corbet said there would be no point in having an architect on the committee, as some had proposed, because only one architect lived in Larkspur.

Councilman Alfred Malvino and O'Grady, however, urged that appointments be made from non-merchant groups, too.

After a half-hour hassle over the value of two slivers of land on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in front of Greenbrae Lanes, the council agreed to sell them to Niels Schultz Jr. for 25 cents a square foot, for a total of $4,800 for about 19,000 square feet.

The land was owned by Schultz but was bought by the state when the freeway interchange was built. After the interchange was built, however, the two slivers remained unused and were turned over to the city. At the request of Schultz, the council abandoned the city's street right-of-way through the parcels last month.

The 25 cents per foot was reported as the same price the state paid Schultz.

Charles P. Semple had been hired by the city at $250 to appraise the land. He said the two parcels were worth $1 apiece because they were of value only to the adjacent property owner, Schultz.

Councilman Malvino voted against the sale. "I am completely against it," he said. "The property has a value of $1.50 (a square foot) on up."

The Larkspur City Council Also:

1. Requested City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst to explore the cost and feasibility of reciprocal rights for Larkspur residents to use the San Rafael Library.
2. Continued to Oct. 5 rezoning from residential to commercial use of a parcel behind the Paul Daly Swim School on Magnolia Avenue.
3. Continued to Oct. 5 abandonment of Bush Street, when it discovered no one knew how much of the street was to be abandoned.
4. Adopted an ordinance banning all vehicles from fire trails.
5. Urged homeowners "to put forth a little effort" to clean up leaves, to reduce flooding in the rainy season.
6. Endorsed a proposed legislative bill to charge residents of unincorporated areas for urban services they receive.
7. Continued to Oct. 5 authorization to expand funds to demolish an old house owned by Mrs. Alyce Stockwell at 19 Onxy Street, because she reportedly has found a buyer who will renovate the house.
8. Continued to Oct. 5 abatement proceedings to demolish a house owned by Mrs. Sybil Peoples on Orange Street. The house has remained uncompleted for almost four years, City Manager Bathurst said.

Kettenhofen Fights Marin City Control

County Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen today, in a letter to fellow supervisors, said he would never vote to have residents of Marin City control the War on Poverty effort throughout the county.

Creation of a non-profit corporation to manage the War on Poverty is to be discussed by supervisors Tuesday. Under the proposal, supervisors would have appointing authority for 12 members of a 30-member governing board.

Kettenhofen said this is not sufficient to assure city and county governments of an active roll in the programs.

He urged that a non-profit corporation be formed to handle the Marin City target area, and that other corporations be created to handle other target areas as they are identified. He includes physically disabled, untrained and uneducated, and the aged as other "target areas."

"I simply will not, and I repeat, will not under any circumstances vote to have the Marin City target area people manage, organize or control the countywide organization and target areas," Kettenhofen declared.

Innocent Plea Made In Husband Stabbing

Mrs. Mary Eckman, 42, pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity yesterday in Marin Superior Court to a charge of murder in the July 8 stabbing death of her husband, William F. Eckman.

Judge Thomas F. Keating scheduled jury trial for Dec. 5. He appointed two psychiatrists to determine if Mrs. Eckman was sane at time of the stabbing, which occurred at the Eckman home, 520 C Street, San Rafael.

Minority Hire Clause Study, Plan Of Health Center Review Advised

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The architect for the Community Mental Health Center should review plans in an attempt to reduce costs of the $1.4 million project, and the Marin County Human Rights Commission should give further study to the strict minority hire clause in the contract.

These were two of the recommendations today from County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, following a meeting yesterday with representatives of four contracting firms.

County officials asked for the meeting after just one bid was submitted on the Community Mental Health Center job Aug. 30. That bid, $1,498,100 by Pacific Coast Builders, was $311,081 above architect Ellis Kaplan's estimate. It was rejected by the board of supervisors.

Meanwhile, Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen today urged that the strict minority hire clause, which calls for a pre-award conference and written agreements filed by all unions and subcontractors, be dropped.

In a letter to fellow supervisors, Kettenhofen said the comprehensive clause for the Hall of Justice contract appears to be working, pointing out that 16 of the 44 now on the job are Negroes, with two of them carpenters, five cement finishers and nine laborers.

"In addition to this, it is my understanding that there is not really a large pool of construction laborers available in Marin City at this time and that the great, great majority of unemployed in Marin City are looking for other than construction work," Kettenhofen wrote.

He said the more stringent clause in the mental health contract was one of the major factors in the lack of competitive bids.

Frost and Maloney said that was one factor. They said fear of lag in progress payments, uncertainty as to adequate budget for the job, and a clause defining sub-bid procedures were other objections raised yesterday.

The sub-bidding clause said the general contractor shall not discriminate against sub-contractors not members of associations or contractor groups. This was directed at the California Bid Service, whose members use bid boxes on jobs. Excluding non-members would be a violation of state law for public jobs, Frost explained.

However, he and Maloney agreed yesterday that the clause caused misunderstanding and should be dropped.

Maloney said he will recommend to the board of supervisors Tuesday that the Human Rights Commission give the minority hiring clause further study, particularly on its practical implication.

That commission is to meet tonight with representatives of Robert E. McKee Construction Co., contractor for the Hall of Justice, to review minority hiring opportunities on that job. The commission meeting will start at 8 p.m. at the Civic Center.

Murphy Campaigns

Pair Sentenced On Morals Count

George Francis Grant, 24, was given a one-year jail term, with all but 30 days suspended, yesterday in Marin Superior Court for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Judge Thomas F. Keating also placed him on probation for three years.

A co-defendant, Bruce Sequoia Birch, 26, was ordered to a 90-day observation period at California Medical Facility, Vacaville, prior to sentencing.

The pair pleaded guilty to taking nude photographs of a 16-year-old Tamalpais High School girl in San Rafael. Judge Keating reduced the charge against Grant to a misdemeanor.

Birch lives at 141 Irwin Street, San Rafael. Grant is from San Francisco.

SHIRT, TIE COAT—BUT SHORT PANTS

LONDON (UPI) — What follows mini-skirts? Why, mini-suits for men.

The mini-suit made its debut in London yesterday. It has a conventional jacket and is worn with a conventional shirt and a conventional tie. But...

British weather being what it is, designer Hardy Amies suggested his mini-suit be worn in Australia.

A study of the effectiveness of various kinds of fire prevention signs indicates that people remember symbols best, color combinations next and sign shape last.

Un-Romantic Thief Takes Love Seats

Three families in Ross and San Rafael have discovered that as someone pursued a desire to get corner on wrought iron furniture in the county.

White cast iron love seats were taken from the front porches of the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Leone of 143 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Ross, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Weaver Jr. of 93 Drake Boulevard in Ross, and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Muzinich of 102 Bayview Avenue, San Rafael.

In addition, a table and two chairs—all of white cast iron—were taken last night from the Muzinich porch. The loss to the Muziniches was estimated at $100.

The Weaver love seat, valued at $55, was taken between Saturday and yesterday, when the Weavers were on a Labor Day vacation. The Leone love seat, valued at $70, was taken between 6:30 p.m. Tuesday and 6:30 p.m. yesterday. The Leones have had theirs for eight years, the Weavers theirs for almost two years.

Conditional Permit To Pool Parlor

Sausalito Planning Commissioners last night approved a conditional use permit for the National Recreation Sales family billiard parlor to be opened at 1417-19 Bridgeway, but with several conditions.

They requested that hours be from 8 a.m. to midnight, that no one under 18 be on the premises after 10 p.m. (curfew hour), and that no food be cooked on the premises.

The commission asked, too, that games be those played on a pool table and be games approved by the American Billiards Congress, and that there be no machines other than soft drink machines.

Opening of the 14-table parlor was delayed last June when the Sausalito city council issued a stop-work order after learning the parlor was not a permitted use under the zoning ordinance. The stop-work order was lifted Aug. 16, councilmen suggesting the San Francisco company apply for a conditional use permit.

The parlor is planned to be opened about Oct. 1. A second billiard parlor owned by the same company is to open in about a week at 941-B Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield.

Henceforth, directors of the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District will meet at 7:30 p.m. on the first and third Wednesday of each month rather than 8 p.m. This the board agreed to last night.

Pre-School Center Program Rejected

Plans for a county-wide center for 165 pre-school children, modeled after that which has been in operation in Marin City, have been rejected by the Marin County Board of Education.

Whether the Marin City center at Manzanita School will be continued by the Sausalito School District remains in doubt, Asst. County Supt. Robert F. Stannard said today.

The county-wide center proposal, to cost $156,000, was voted down 4-to-3 by the board Tuesday night.

"I object to the cost," Board President Patrick W. Pollock said. "It's and extremely high cost to the taxpayer anyway you slice it."

The proposal would have combined the Sausalito school district's pre-school program with the county school office's children's center at Manzanita school. Administered by the county schools office, the program would also have added a center in Novato.

Citing average cost of $1,300 per child, Pollock said the children would go to school only from 9 a.m. to noon in the 10-month program.

"This provides not an education program as you and I mean it," he said. The program would be concerned more with teaching the children color identification, he said.

TAXPAYERS PAY

About one-third of the funds would come from the state, the county, and parents' fees. The other two-thirds would be from the federal Office of Economic Opportunity and the state Unruh Pre-School Act funds.

"We must recognize that these dollars are taxpayers' dollars whether they live in Marin City or San Anselmo, or Montana," Pollock said. "The taxpayers should not be asked to stand the cost."

Joining Pollock in voting against the proposal were Arnold Dolcini, James A. Carroll and Lee C. Richardson.

Stannard said the county would continue to operate the children's center at Manzanita School, but the pre-school center there was in doubt because the Sausalito school district had not asked for money, expecting the board to approve the county-wide project.

LOST APPROVAL

Stannard said that although the county has received state approval for the proposed Novato Center, "It looks like we've lost it now."

The board in another 4-3 vote approved submitting a $93,661 planning grant application to the U. S. Department of Education for research in new classroom materials for occupational education. If federally approved, the grant would empower the county schools office to hire a staff to develop new materials for school districts in Marin, Sonoma, Solano and Napa counties.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

1. Approved hiring William Perry as director of the children's center at Manzanita School at $7,800, Kenneth Hansen, teacher at Bayview schools (San Quentin) at $8,699, and Mrs. Margaret Plato as part-time guidance counselor at $3,-799.

2. Promoted Robert Spain from consultant at $14,815 to assistant to the coordinator of instructional materials at $15,-325.

3. Approved employment of Dr. Lawrence Swan, as consultant to the television instruction workshop and Assemblyman Charles B. Garrigus, California poet laureate, as consultant to the poetry workshop, each for one day at $75.

4. Voted to continue membership in the California School Boards Assn.

5. Adopted a resolution in memory of Mrs. Marietta F. Larsen, Tamalpais High School District trustee who died recently.

6. Was notified of the county schools staff and teachers family picnic Sept. 26 at Rancho Nicasio.

France's government-operated railroad system is operating at a loss. Last year the deficit was $30-million.

Full Classes Cause Dixie Transfers

Transfer of some pupils to schools not in their neighborhoods will be necessary in the Dixie School District because of crowded classes, Supt. Dennie B. Willis told trustees last night.

He said enrollment was 4,250 on opening day Tuesday, and will rise to 4,360 by the third week of school.

Second, third and fourth grade classes at Santa Margarita and Don Timoteo schools and kindergarten classes at Mary Silveira School are overcrowded, Willis reported.

Trustees agreed that one, perhaps two additional teachers must be hired. Recently arrived pupils in the Santa Margarita attendance area will be transferred to Don Timoteo School, where another class will be established. There is an unused classroom there.

Another kindergarten may have to be established at Mary Silveira School.

The Dixie School District board also:

1. Authorized a joint powers agreement with the county and city of San Rafael for the completion of Las Gallinas Avenue, fronting on Bernard Hoffman School. The district's share of cost will be $3,000.

2. Authorized hiring teachers Mrs. Victoria Bailey at $6,459 a year, Alexandra MacLean at $5,850, Mrs. Lorraine Parmer at $6,350, Alexandra Riznyk at $5,-600, Betty Jean Smith at $6,450, Ann Elizabeth Winne at $6,450, and Lawrence H. Hoelter at $5,800.

3. Authorized Willis to negotiate a lease for a mobile office to serve the speech therapist at schools with insufficient space.

School Tax Bill, Commandments In 'Insignificant' Rafferty Talk

The State Department of Education will back a bill calling for a state-wide property tax for schools and abolishing the multiple "over-ride" taxes by school districts.

STATE SUPT. Max Rafferty disclosed this in a talk to the Marin County School Administrators Assn. on Aug. 29. Rafferty's appearance was not publicized in advance — at his request, according to the dinner chairman. Various school administrators questioned afterward professed they could remember nothing of consequence from the one and one-half hour speech and question session.

However, Supt. G. R. McConnell of the Mill Valley School District felt what the state superintendent said might be important, so he tape-recorded the session—with Rafferty's permission.

Rafferty begged off talking about the assigned subject, "The Power Structure of California Education." Instead, he presented and elaborated his own "Professional Decalogue" for educators:

First Commandment: Thou shalt not preach adjustment to environment.

Second Commandment: Thou shalt honor subject matter.

Third Commandment: Thou shalt remain local.

Seventh Commandment: Thou shalt be a profession.

Eighth Commandment: Thou shalt obey the law.

Ninth Commandment: Thou shalt not use thy school as an ornithological sanctuary for odd birds.

Tenth Commandment: Thou shalt seek even-handedly after the truth. Said Rafferty, "This is the 10th and greatest commandment and it takes in all the rest."

The disclosure of the finance bill he hopes to see passed by the next Legislature came during the question period.

Rafferty said the bill is being prepared by Ronald W. Cox, associate state superintendent. He said he expects it will do away with the $125-per-pupil "basic state aid" as well as substituting a state property tax for the locally levied "overrides." And it will call for much larger state outlays for education—and enable local districts to sharply cut their taxes.

RAFFERTY SAID the Unruh Unification Act needs to provide a bigger "carrot" to make it worthwhile for school districts to unify. He found no quarrel with the act's philosophy.

He had some colorful remarks about his "10 Commandments."

Of "life adjustment" teaching, he declared, "We Americans are in a mess" with wars, racial hatreds, crime, pornography, insane mass murders, and "public officials so crooked they make Boss Tweed look like Billy Graham, right here in California." To teach children to adjust to this would be a crime, he declared.

OF THE SECOND Commandment, he commented that he hears constantly from people outside the education establishment that youngsters are graduated from high school unable to read simple directions or do simple arithmetic. The public, he said, wants "subject matter and more subject matter. . . . They'd better get it or we're all going to get the axe."

Of the Sixth Commandment: Noting an increase in school board recall elections, he declared: "If because a board member is fighting for phonetic approaches to reading or better library materials" he is branded a conservative, or because he wants history books that teach the truth about the Negro he is branded a liberal, "that is wrong."

"Teachers and school administrators should never express their own political preferences or partisan politics in the classroom or among their pupils," he cautioned.

Of the Eighth Commandment: Rafferty asserted that, although the law requires teachers to teach children to avoid profanity, some are violating it by "exposing the children to modern literature replete with not only profanity but downright filthy obscenity." Others, he said, are violating the law requiring them to lead patriotic exercises in class.

RAFFERTY'S NINTH Commandment seemed to be aimed primarily at the Berkeley campus of University of California, which he said "looks more like Skid Row than a campus."

"This is not a university as any sane society has ever known it," proclaimed Rafferty. "This is a caricature out of Li'l Abner, or even out of Hogarth, showing what happens when you turn an institution over to the inmates."

Strangely, some of the educators who sat through the lunch and speech (and presumably joined in the applause, which was loud and sustained) remembered none of this.

Three Years Probation Given For Burglary

A 30-day county jail term and probation for three years were given William Leon Dickinson, 23, yesterday in Marin Superior Court for second degree burglary.

Dickinson, of 16 Rena Court, Novato, pleaded guilty to burglary of Goldsmith's Saddle Shop, 817 Grant Avenue, Novato, on June 24.

Heated Fuoride More Effective In Teeth Care

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (SS)—Fluoride solution applied to children's teeth may be three times as effective if it is heated.

Fluoride brushed over the teeth by dentists in communities lacking water fluoridation helps prevent decay, but it is less effective than fluoride in drinking water. Its effectiveness depends on how much fluoride the tooth's outer enamel will absorb.

Dr. Donald S. Strachan, assistant professor of dentistry at the University of Michigan School of Dentistry here, reported experiments in which extracted third molars were treated with fluoride solution for four minutes each. The solution was applied to the teeth at room temperature and then at 140 degrees F., which is halfway between room temperature and the boiling point of water.

Since three times more fluoride was absorbed into the surface layer, Dr. Strachan says the method may have possibilities for use with patients. Dr. R. J. Barrancos of Argentina worked with Dr. Strachan in the experiment.

Getaways Are Getting Tougher

RICHMOND (AP)—"You are not going to take my car," a driver told two escaping prisoners yesterday as he ripped out the wires behind his ignition key.

Armed with a knife, the escapees then ran to a woman driver's car. She refused to get out.

One prisoner finally jumped on the back of a motorcycle and was sped away. Police picked him up later at his home.

The other was captured almost immediately in the parking lot adjacent to the Contra Costa County Jail.

Edwin Fisher, 27, of San Pablo, and Charles L. Watson, 25, of El Cerrito, ran away from a bailiff after being arraigned on an armed robbery charge.

The man who ripped out the wire is William Long of Daly City. The woman who refused to get out of her car is Mrs. Maude Hennigan of Berkeley.

According to an old legend, The Flying Dutchman, a haunted ship, appears at intervals off Cape of Good Hope. The appearance is a sign of misfortune.

Classrooms Fail Quake Standards

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Board of Education closed 22 elementary school rooms in four buildings yesterday after architects and engineers declared them unsafe in an earthquake.

A study was ordered after the California attorney general ruled school boards are responsible for determining whether buildings meet earthquake standards. His ruling was based on the Field Act of 1934, passed after a disastrous Southern California quake.

Rooms in other schools are to accommodate the 508 displaced pupils.

Lagoon Days Begins With Indian Theme

Indian Summer Nights is the theme of this year's celebration of Belvedere Lagoon Days which officially opened last night.

A blast fired from a miniature cannon at the Basil Knauth dock at 8 p.m. was the signal for all the colored lights decorating the homes on the Lagoon to be turned on simultaneously. This opened the five day event which includes cocktail parties, a costume dinner-dance, an outdoor lighting and decorating contest, a swimming meet and regatta.

Judging of the decorated docks, homes and patios will be held tonight and tomorrow night.

A swimming meet for juniors will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday.

Highlights of the festival will be the costume party Saturday. Cocktails will be served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lou Hymans from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. Costumed guests will arrive by car, sailboat, canoe, row boat, pedal boat and gondola. The home of Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews will be the setting for the dinner dance.

Sunday all Belvedere Sailing Society fleets will race in the annual Lagoon Days regatta, the official close of the Lagoon's sailing season.

The Lagoon days activity is sponsored by the Belvedere Sailing Society, Stephen W. Johnson, commodore, appointed Ed Misuraca, vice commodore, chairman of the event. His committee includes Edward Brash, decorations; Mrs. Richard Hanna, reservations; Mrs. Paul Law, swimming events; Dr. Samuel Mann, regatta; George R. Whitney, docking; Mrs. Maury Saltzman, telephone; Ivan S. Meitus, clean up; Paul Law, music and entertainment; Ernest Van Asperen, refreshments; Commodore Johnson, trophies; Charles Patterson and J. W. Clarke, publicity.

AFRICAN TRAVELS

The Current Talk In Kenya—

Second of a series on just-completed travels through East Africa, South Africa and Rhodesia.

By BARBARA HOSMER

"They may own it, but they can't run it," grunted a Britisher employed as a Kenya immigration official as he was called from his post to straighten out his African co-workers' confusion at Nairobi airport.

Not unexpectedly, Kenya's problems are common to many developing countries yet some seem uniquely her own—

Some 50 young African men were sprawled in the heat of the sun along the embankment across from the Kenya police compound. They were waiting for jobs, we were told. Many come from their tribal areas to find work in the city and, after a couple of months, if they find none they return to their tribes. This continual transient group of young men in need of jobs, food and shelter and vying for low-skilled jobs plagues Nairobi.

Current outcries are aimed at profiteering by unscrupulous merchants, who jack up prices because goods are scarce or they have a monopoly outlet, and the East African Sunday Nation ran black headlines on the racketeering through the black market in uninspected and diseased meat.

IT SAID that large quantities of beef, mutton and goat, uncertified and often diseased, are shipped by night into Nairobi in "pirate" lorries and sold cut-rate to the public.

Minister of Agriculture Bruce McKenzie threatened heavier penalties by the government to punish racketeers, but for three years officials have been trying to plug loopholes in the control law, and only now expect to get the legislation they need. Cattle rustling is thought to contribute to the illicit meat trade, with stock slaughtered in a secret place and loaded onto lorries bound for black markets.

A 10-foot-high wire fence looking like the boundary of a prison compound was erected by one Kenya plantation owner around his coffee estate outside Nairobi. Plagued by constant thievery, he figured it would pay him to put in expensive fencing.

Farms bought out by the government from European owners for re-settlement to Africans are often stripped bare by marauders before new tenants can come in, settting back the intent to produce more for export and raise economic stability.

The second-hand market for brass and copper is tops, so coffee farmers and other irrigators are losing the rings and joints of costly spraying pipe outlays. And in one tea district some 25,000 tea stumps were reported stolen. Of six farms surveyed, 26 per cent of the maize harvest was lifted, and the maize commission suggested a 24 hour watchman for the crops. Another target for thieves is pump parts, putting the whole machine out of whack until the new parts can be ordered. Thievery is a common means of income in parts of Africa. . . .

OTHER HOT topics include the half serious, half comic debate in Parliament on whether a Kenyan should marry a foreigner, touched off when Labor Minister Dr. Julius Kiano and his American Negro wife separated after a 13 year marriage. Two months ago she was deprived of Kenya citizenship for "disloyalty" and returned to the U.S. Less than a month later Dr. Kiano took another wife in a Kikuyu tribal rite.

When a bill was introduced in Parliament to help Kenyans marry foreigners, opposition quickly cited the Kianos. But Sarah Lukalo, secretary of Kenya's National Council of Women, gave the distaff view to the press:

"We are not satisfied with the reasons given for depriving Mrs. Kiano of citizenship. As mothers we were shocked at the way she was treated. . . . She was hustled out of Kenya and lost everything —husband, home and children.

"We women in our country know that the men go abroad and bring a wife back with them even though they are married. The Kenya wife suffers, but not as much as the foreign girl who may have been led to believe she was marrying a single man.

"If a Kenya wife is unhappy she can get on a bus and be with her mother by evening, but a foreign girl can't and we sympathize."

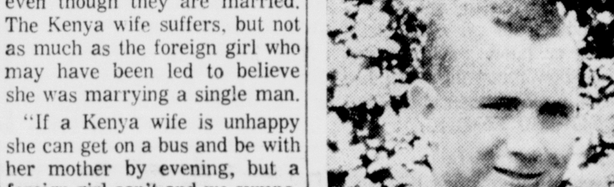
ANOTHER female yowl is the lack of women in Parliament, although the constitution does not forbid them. The men-only situation some blame on the tribal system which they claim creates prejudice against women and gives them an inferiority complex. But times are changing, some of the women commented over the debate that came up in Parliament over it.

Latest wrinkle in the Africanization program to replace Europeans with Africans in responsible positions is the still pilot project to turn out "instant executives" in a four week course. East African businessman Sir Roland Bennett devised a system to help African workers overcome inhibitions, teach them to think problems through constructively and bring out leadership ability.

East Africans have charged that under colonialism their education was mainly learning by rote, not analytical thinking, and since independence qualified executives are woefully lacking.



Sir Ronald ran six four-week courses with 20 companies sending 60 trainees for East African business positions to the camp-site north of Mombasa. There physical and mental development is stressed and curriculum is geared to the trainees' and their company problems. They do tedious work to learn that not even executives always do interesting things, work out of awkward situations, and learn to lead, not drive workers under them.

Two-week "booster" courses are held later to keep the trainees on their toes and help resettle men into their jobs. It is a common complaint that work of some promising Africans deteriorates once they find themselves in higher positions, and Africans themselves say it's so.

LATEST proposal on Africanization came from the Assistant Minister of Tourism, Jan Mohammed, when he suggested to East African professional white hunters that they could expect to take on a liberal sprinkling of black hunters. . . . The "good old days" are gone, he said and "it's time to face the reality of the times."

The minister's speech was followed by much "mumbling into mugs of beer," the East Africa Reporter newsmagazine said, and the white hunters countered by saying, that white hunting is "98 per cent socializing and working up personal contacts over the years and 2 per cent shooting animals" and Africanization of professional hunting cannot, therefore, be enforced.

AND THERE, in black and white, the matter rests.

'Come As You Are' Barbecue Theme

A new idea for the annual summer barbecue has been added this year by the Novato Junior Women's Club as they feature a "Come As You Are" theme. The barbecue will be held for members and their husbands on Saturday at the home of the chairman and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lundberg Jr.

Calls were made to the various homes of members over the past weekend, and it is promised that the Howard Silveys will show up in their painting clothes and the Marlin Olsens in their robes.

Assisting Mrs. Lundberg will be committee members, Mesdames Jack Haley, Vernon Robertson, Mike Anthony and Mike Michaelson.

MR. AND MRS. STEPHEN CHARLES KELSO (Theresa Ford of Corte Madera) will make their home in Seattle where the bride will attend University of Washington. (Francken photo)

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Sister Does Everything To Show Wildness Does Run In The Family

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teen-age questions to Youth Asked For It, care of Helen Help Us!, the Independent-Journal.

DEAR HELEN:

My sister is two years older than me. She started dating when she was 13 and going steady when she was 14. She fought with my mom and us kids — not just fussing; sometimes she caused bruises and cuts. My Mom and Dad are separated and Mom couldn't do anything with her.

When she was 16, she dropped out of school. At 17, she ran away with a 23-year-old "man" for three weeks and finally married him. They live with his grandmother, who supports them. He beats her and goes out with old women and gets drunk all the time. He's an alcoholic.

Well, now you see my sister has made many mistakes and this has made my mother very sad and disappointed. I don't intend to follow her actions. I try not to make Mom mad. I'm 16. Two years ago, she let me date, but she is getting stricter all the time. She thinks I'll do the same as my sister.

If I talk on the phone more than five minutes, she thinks I'm going to elope with the boy, and when I get a date she won't let me keep it. She insists that my 10-year-old sister go with me to shows and shopping because she thinks I'll meet boys.

Helen, I don't want to sneak out, but I need to have fun like other girls do. I plan to go to college. I get straight A's and B's at school. I keep up with my responsibilities at home. I've done everything possible to show her that wildness doesn't run in the family.

What else can I do?—SENSIBLE DATE SEEKER

DEAR SDS:

You write an exceptionally fine letter. Why not write one to your mother? Sometimes a letter does much more than argument to clear the air and make frightened mothers see straight. Try it and see.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I agree entirely with the girl who wrote complaining about boys who snap to attention the minute girls snap their fingers. They're nothing but sissies, who trail after girls like "lost puppies." Any boy that would take a lot of orders from a girl ought to be psychoanalyzed. A girl who would give a boy orders certainly ought to be put across his knee and spanked.

A boy should be looked up to, not down on.—FAY.

DEAR HELEN:

"Where" who wants a he-boy doesn't know when she's well off. I got a boy who acts like "Joe Master," and believe you me, she can have him. I am one fed-up kid!

If "Where" wants a spanking here is where to get it—hard. He is too bossy. We go where HE wants, leave when HE wants, even eat what HE wants. As for dancing, talking or walking with other boys, forget it! If I object to this nice plum-peachy set-up, he puts me over his knee and spanks me hard. And what drives me out of my tree is that he acts like he has a perfect right to do it.

Why do I stand for this, you ask? To tell the truth, I can't quite explain, but I do. I just feel too meek and timid to say anything, and maybe a teeny bit scared too.

Gosh, "Where"—don't press your luck. A masterful boy friend may keep you in your place, but even the most bashful and shy of girls resents it sooner or later. You'd be surprised how many girls feel like you do until they get one. I did! —ONE WHO KNOWS

DEAR ONE:

If you don't change that signature to "One Who Knows—Better Now!" it will change in a few years to "Hopeless Wife." When you team up with a bully, you'll soon learn "the meek inherit the lumps!"—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have the happy medium—a fellow who won't get pushed around but isn't a bully. He's sure of himself, so we can be equals—almost.—LOVES IT

Self-Discipline Necessary In Facial Muscle Exercise

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Every little facial muscle has a meaning all its own, says Joyce Lee, who has been studying them since childhood.

Her Viennese mother and grandmother used to do facial exercises to foil wrinkles.

If testimonials are any indication, her method works. Miss Lee is armed with the good wishes of a sizable number of well-known clients who claim she has helped them.

"Circulation slows down as we grow older and muscles of the face lose the ability to hold up flesh. Skin droops. But if the muscle is exercised, it can perform its natural function," she explains.

But if you can't sit down and concentrate, you shouldn't start the exercises, she says. A large amount of self-discipline is necessary.

Exercises are divided into preliminaries (learning to manipulate the muscle) that are done for six days, morning and night. The main exercise is once a day, six days a week. After lines disappear, it is done once a week. If a line at the corner of the mouth is just beginning, preliminaries might halt it. But if it has reached the jowls stage, the complete exercise is needed.

Many lines have their beginning in youthful habits—grimacing, resting the face against the hand, wrinkling the forehead to apply eye makeup. Some exercises are supposed to ward off wrinkles but create additional ones, Miss Lee explains.

Try these exercises in front of a mirror.

For the scowl line: apply a thick layer of cream to the face. Scowl by moving muscles between eyebrows inward in tiny, definite controlled movements, one movement to each count of ten. Now do a release exercise, controlling muscles on the return as you did on the inward movement, counting back, 10 to 1 in reverse steps, one movement to each count.

After that position take hands (in white cotton gloves) placing index finger of left hand at inner corner of right eyebrow and left thumb at inner corner of left eye-brow, spreading and smoothing the scowl area between finger tips. Place a round of facial tissue about the size of a half-dollar over scowl area. Over that tissue place a smooth disc (Miss Lee uses a round 4-inch long acrylic disc) pressing it flat against scowl lines with pressure of both hands. This is a "resistance position."

While the disc is in hand, do the two preliminary exercises, keeping pressure on it all the time. First do the muscle movement, then the muscle releaser, making sure the movements are tiny, gradual and controlled.

LIVING IN DAVIS, where both are attending the University of California, are Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Thomas Zilka. The bride is the former Leslie Williams of Hayward. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Zilka of Mill Valley.

RAPID TRANSIT DOWN THE WAYS

Traffic Jams Target For Transit Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson described today the "daily horror" in the big city rush hour in signing legislation that will authorize $300 million more federal aid to urban mass transit systems in the next two years.

Johnson, at a ceremony in the Cabinet room, announced the appointment of Leo J. Cusick, 57, a former official of the New York City Transit Authority, and now a private consultant, to be deputy undersecretary of housing and urban development to supervise transit aid.

The President spoke of "the right of every man to get to his job in a reasonable time, at a reasonable cost."

"In the next 40 years, we must completely renew our cities. The alternative is disaster," Johnson said.

He said needs in health, eduhousing can never be fully met "until we rebuild our mass transportation systems."

Credential Rules Hit By Teacher Shortages

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—More requests for teachers with only provisional credentials provided the main topic on the agenda today as the California Board of Education began a two-day meeting.

The board, which reluctantly authorized 240 school districts to employ teachers with provisional credentials at a previous meeting, was to hear similar requests from at least 135 more districts.

No more provisional credentials were to have beeen issued after July 1. However, after learning of a teacher shortage in parts of Los Angeles and many rural areas, the board agreed to a three-month extension.

EARN EQUAL PAY

While permitting the districts to hire teachers with provisional credentials at the previous meeting, the board also required that they be paid at least as much as teachers with standard credentials.

Approval of such requests is by no means automatic. At its previous meeting, for example, the board turned down 13 school districts.

Thomas W. Braden, president of the board, had expressed his disapproval at the number of districts claiming to have exhausted all means of recruiting fully qualified teachers. He had instructed the Department of Education to provide more data on the petitions to be considered.

Included in the information requested: Each petitioning district's enrollment, tax wealth, tax ceiling, minimum and maximum salary schedules plus the top amount actually being paid and the number of vacancies.

To qualify for a provisional credential, the teacher must have at least a bachelor's degree. For a full credential five years of college work are required. He must also state his intent to work to complete all the requirements for a full credential and pass the national teacher examination before his certificate is renewed.

Students Spark Argentine Revolt

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Rebellious Argentine university students, enraged by the shooting of a fellow demonstrator, battled heavily armed police early today from behind barricades and atop roofs in the historic city of Cordoba.

The Cordoba rioting was the only violence reported in a generally unsuccessful nationwide student strike yesterday protesting the seizure of eight traditionally autonomous national universities by Argentina's military regime.

Two Producers Defy U. S. To Boost Copper Prices

The increase from 36 to 38 cents a pound was announced Wednesday by the Copper Range Co. and the Inspiration Consolidated Copper Co. There was no immediate reaction from the government.

A spokesman for Copper Range said "the company respects the government's efforts to hold raw materials prices at the lowest possible levels" but that it was unable to delay action any longer "in the face of forces beyond our control."

An attempt by Copper Range to make an identical price increase last November received support from most of the industry but was rescinded under government pressure.

Industry spokesmen said Wednesday they were studying the new increase.

Italians Honor Hero Surgeon

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Maj. Gen. James W. Humphreys of Richmond, Va., the Air Force surgeon who removed a live grenade from a Vietnamese farmer's back, has been awarded a gold medal by an Italian medical foundation.

In receiving the Carlo Erba Foundation award in Milan last night, Humphreys said: "This very much appreciated award, I know, is not being given to me personally but to the entire Medical Corps fighting in Viet Nam."

Automated Post Offices At School

WASHINGTON (AP) — The post offices on the campuses of Ohio State University and the State University of New York at Buffalo will be fully automated within a month.

The Post Office Department says it will install six-sided units that will offer stamps, postal cards, envelopes and minimum insurance for sale.

The automated post offices also will have mail boxes, scales, mailing information, bill and coin changers and a direct telephone line to a nearby post office "to provide 24-hour advice on postal problems."

ART REVIEW

Western Art Prizes Announced

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Realism in painting has been around a long time, so long in fact, that the representational painter often has difficulty finding new subjects or new interpretations to give his work authority.

One group, however—the huge 1,000-member Society of Western Artists—remains dedicated to the representational idea. Its fifth annual exhibition at the Torrance Gallery, 128 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo, is exclusively a realistic painting show. As such, it includes both the successes and failures attendant on that idea.

It is open daily except Sundays from 9 to 5 p.m. through Sept. 30, with an open house next Sunday from 2 to 6 p.m.

WESTERN SCENES

When the Western Artists' work is good it is often excellent, as in Mabel Palmer's goauche, "Tight Bend," a racing scene alive with the motion of trotters and swirling clouds of dust. And representational ideas are especially well expressed in the miniatures and smaller works.

William Grant Sherry's oil, "'49er," is a quietly memorable scene of a greying wagon in a field of grass. In a different mood, Doris Morrison's black and white print, "The Harvest," and Mildred Albronda's sketchy watercolor, "Belvedere Yacht Harbor," have great power in spite of their minute size.

AWARDS SELECTED

The awards for the Western Artists' show were selected by a credit-studded jury of painters in this field: William Grant Sherry, Othello Michetti, and Dr. Marjorie Stevens. In oils their choices were: Marjorie Close, first, and Jacqueline Koehler, second; in watercolors, Mabel Palmer, first; Mildred Albronda, second; Mae Ralston, third, and Dale English, honorable mention; in drawing, Marjorie Connell, first, and Doris Morrison, second.

Unfortunately, not all the paintings in the show sustain the strength shown in the winning works. The big hazard in representational painting is tired subject matter and it is the exhibit's largest failing. One wishes that the artists would seek new territory to depict or that they would find a more imaginative, personal way to express the areas that have been thoroughly covered before.

ART IS LASTING

There is something very gratifying about a good realtistic painting. It is viewable, livable, and lasting. For all the time realism has been explored it still isn't a closed issue, but doing it well, with freshness and sensitivity, is the challenge. It is one which is interestingly met by many in the Western Artists' Torrance Gallery exhibition. Hopefully, next year it will be met by even more.

President of the Northgate Shopping Center Merchants Assn. is Herbert F. Brandt of the Emporium.

Fairfax Residents Recommend Retaining Village Atmosphere

The village atmosphere of downtown Fairfax should be retained, according to the recommendations of citizen committees on the general plan for the Fairfax area.

Committees also felt that the city could use a new civic center, an auditorium, an amphitheater, a swimming pool, and more parks.

SIX-COMMITTEE REPORT

The recommendations of six committees were reported in the city's first newsletter, which has been sent to residents.

The first phase of the city-county plan covering the Fairfax area to White's Hill is expected to be completed by January, according to City Administrator David J. Sumbardo.

Both the Community Character and Appearance Committee and the Commercial Committee recommended that the village atmosphere of downtown be preserved.

The appearance committee said the atmosphere should be improved by color coordination of the buildings.

The commercial committee recommended that the parkade be changed to a park or commons area, and that all commercial signs be of uniform character and style.

Although the population of the 6.5 square mile planning area is expected to reach 20,000, the Residential Committee recommended that population somehow be held to 14,000.

PRESERVE BEAUTY

The committee proposed that 40.9 per cent of the area be designated for housing, with 37.6 for single-family, 3 per cent for duplexes, and .3 of one per cent for apartments. It also recommended preservation and enhancement of the natural beauty of the area, underground utilities and greenbelt areas.

The residential committee also recommended that excessive cuts and fills be avoided and that the planning commission be given power to rule on tree removals.

The Streets and Highways Committee recommended that Highway 17 follow the Miracle Mile through San Rafael and then follow the ridge route north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. It also recommended that Sir Francis Drake Boulevard be widened to White's Hill, that bus service be improved, and there be experiments with one-way streets.

The Schools and Recreation Committee recommended that future park sites be developed, including a park north of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and one in the Deer Park-Phoenix Lake area.

It also proposed that Bolinas Park be landscaped and restroom facilities installed, and that an amphitheater be located at Andy Peri Park. The committee suggested the pavilion be renovated, to be replaced later with a city swimming pool.

BUILD RECREATION

It also proposed that tennis courts be built and the recreation program be expanded to include senior citizen programs and athletic programs for girls.

The appearance committee said that a new civic center is needed. It urged creation of a design review board.

Tree planting should be encouraged and creeks left in their natural state, this committee said. Shopping centers, the parkade, service stations and city entrances should be landscaped and historical markers and maps of hiking trails should be developed, it suggested.

The committee also recommended that the sign ordinance and underground utilities ordinance be revised.

The Commercial Committee proposed that futurec ommercial development should be within the area bounded by Bolinas and Pacheco Avenues and Broadway and Sherman Street.

New parking facilities could be developed in peripheral areas, and streets on the edge of the downtown area should be widened and used for through traffic to avoid the bottleneck at Bolinas and Broadway, the committee said.

The Public Facilities Committee recommended that there be an auditorium with facilities for musical and dramatic productions, an art gallery, and arts and crafts and meeting rooms.

ENLARGE FACILITIES

It also recommended that facilities for police, fire and city offices be enlarged.

Adult education and recreation night programs should be started in the schools, and residential street lighting should be improved, this committee said.

Committee members said the city should continue to contract with the county for library services, but improve and expand sanitary facilities to handle growth.

Sumbardo said 60 citizens were appointed to the committees in October, 1965, to make recommendations to the city's planning consultants in preparation of the general plan.

Jane Marsh Stars In White House Fete

By FRANCES LEWINE

WACHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson hailed 13 young American musicians — winners of an international competition in Moscow — for doing more than diplomats to inspire understanding between the United States and the Soviet Union.

He bestowed the title "national treasures" on the winners Wednesday night before a White House audience that included some of the elite of America's world of music and the performing arts. With the Soviet minister counselor, Alexander I. Zinchuk, in a front-row East Room seat, Johnson declared:

"I hope history will record this example of how music has reached across the oceans, the walls and the ideologies that separate us, and found response in the hearts of the Russian people. I hope that it will be followed by other actions in other fields so that other threads of understanding can be strung across the space between us."

Afterwards, mingling at a buffet supper in the state dining room, Zinchuk aaid Johnson's remarks were "very true."

WINNERS PERFORM

Five of the winners — three singers, a pianist and a cellist — staged an hour-long concert, receiving ovations from the 350 White House guests and congratulations from the Johnsons and pianist Van Cliburn, winner of the international Tchaikovsky competition when it was inaugurated in 1958.

Cliburn, 34, of Longview, Tex., was cast in a new role — master of ceremonies.

WINS FIRST PRIZE

The star of the evening was statuesque soprano Jane Marsh, 24, of Mill Valley, and New York, who won first prize in the vocal division of the Moscow competition — the first American to receive that honor.

Amid all the emphasis on excellence, the White House stage lighting failed and the President had to make his speech in a darkened ballroom.

HUGS AND KISSES

There were warm greetings, even kisses and hugs, as the famous visitors went through the presidential receiving line in the Blue Room after the performance.

Bearded author John Steinbeck was one who got hugs and pats from the President.

Mrs. Johnson summed it up as "a beautiful and brilliant evening."

Pittsburgh Theater To Move To City

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "This is an engagement and we are going to get married as soon as the attorneys approve the vows," a Chamber of Commerce spokesman said Wednesday in announcing the American Conservatory Theater was moving to San Francisco.

"We have agreed to agree we are entering into a letter of agreement to negotiate a contract," explained William Boyd, the chamber's administrative manager.

ACT, a repertory group formed 14 months ago in Pittsburgh, is now playing in Ravinia, Ill., and will start for California Oct. 2.

It will offer a 16-play, 22-week season at the Geary Theater, starting Dec. 26.

Chamber action came after a grass roots campaign raised $42,000 towards the $125,000 expected deficit. Melvin Swig, co-chairman of the campaign with Cyril Magnin, said money came from the city, the San Francisco Peninsula, Sacramento, Stockton, Marysville and Monterey.

The theater's budget is $700,000 of which it expects to raise $450,000 in ticket sales. It expects a $100,000 grant from the National Foundation for the Arts and $25,000 from the city's hotel tax.

With the $42,000 in hand, Magnin said, "Now we can go to the big donors, the businesses and the foundations."

The company includes 32 actors, five directors and 43 administrators, technicians and production staff members.

It is both a performing company and an intensive training program for its members. Training funds are being sought from the Ford Foundation.

ACT received offers from Los Angeles and Chicago, but picked San Francisco after giving performances in July and August at nearby Stanford University.

Rock 'N' Roll Bands Set For Annual Fair

Rock 'n' Roll bands selected to play at the annual Mountain Fair this week end are the Flying Circus; the Plague; the Brass Commonwealth; God, Mother and Country; the Californians; the Threshhold; the Mail Box and the Axons. All are from Marin County.

The fair, sponsored by Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn., is to be held from 10 a.m. to nightfall each day at fair grounds on Ridge Avenue off Panoramic Highway.

J. Wayne Womack is mayor of the City of Novato.

13 Gonorrhea Cases Reported In County

There were 13 cases of gonorrhea reported in Marin County last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health office. Cases were reported in Marin City, Mill Valley, Corte Madera, Larkspur, San Anselmo, San Rafael and Novato.

Other communicable diseases reported included seven streptococcus infections, three cases of salmonella, and one each of tuberculosis and syphilis.

Urban Affairs Committee Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Harrison, A. Williams Jr. proposed today the creation of a 15-member Senate Committee on Urban Affairs.

The New Jersey Democrat said an adequately staffed committee is needed to advise and assist the Senate in studying the impact of federal aid on U.S. cities.

Williams also said the committee should "review the successes and failures of the existing programs and develop bold and imaginative new proposals for the years ahead."

College Chorus Rehearsals Start

The College of Marin community chorus, directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, will begin rehearsals for its fall concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the Butler Building adjacent to the football field on the campus.

There are vacancies for all singers in the chorus, for which no voice test is required.

One of the works to be performed on Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. in the gymnasium will be Brahm's "Requiem."

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

We sympathize with this Bronx woman: "For many years I've had pain in the lower back that has occasionally extended into my left thigh and leg. It usually goes away in a few days only to return months later. But this time the aching persists. Don't you think six weeks is a long time to be crippled?"

Yes, but don't press the panic button. The most common cause of low back pain is strain and there is a 90 per cent chance that relief will follow conservative measures. One in 10 may require surgery if a disk between the vertebrae is protruding and pressing upon the spinal cord.

WE ASSUME that this woman has been examined thoroughly and X-rays have been taken of the back. Sprain is more likely to occur when the individual and his back muscles are tired. A week of bed rest is recommended when the distress is severe. Pain killers, heat, and muscle relaxants lessen the aching. A firm mattress is essential. Insert a ⅝-inch plywood board between the spring and mattress. This should extend from the head to the foot and to both sides of the bed.

Thereafter it is advisable to wear a low back support made of canvas and reinforced with metal stays. Avoid heavy lifting and unusual strain to the lower back. Always keep the back straight and bend the knees when lifting. Women should wear flat-heeled shoes.

IMPROVE POSTURE by standing with the head high and walking properly. Changes in the footwear helps if one leg is longer than the other. And finally, strengthen the muscles of the back and abdomen so that they will be able to support the vertebrae.

Victims of backache should be careful when walking, stepping up and down curbs, and while playing golf or tennis. Sit properly, especially when viewing television. Avoid obesity. Pain, secondary to pelvic disorders, is not a common origin even though menstrual disorders aggravate an existing backache.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

ARTHRITIS TYPES

P. K. writes: How can a person know whether his joint pains are caused by rheumatoid arthritis or osteoarthritis?

REPLY

He can't unless he has had medical training. On the other hand, osteoarthritis usually develops in oldsters and generally attacks the weight bearing joints. Rheumatoid arthritis affects younger individuals and is associated with more pain, swelling and stiffness.

WRIST PAIN

O. L. D. writes: What causes a severe pain in the pulse?

REPLY

Which one? Every artery expands with the beat of the heart to produce a pulse. I assume, however, you refer to pain in the wrist, which may be associated with sprain, rheumatism, or bursitis. On the other hand pain in the temporal artery on the side of the forehead may stem from infection in the wall of the vessels.

NO RESISTANCE

V. A. writes: What is lacking in a person who catches cold all the time?

REPLY

We call it resistance, but beyond this we do not know why some are more susceptible to colds than others. It is well to remember that there are many varieties of colds, and in some instances allergy, rather than infection, is the culprit.

THE ULCER PROBLEM

R. D. writes: Can deformity of the stomach lead to ulcer?

REPLY

No, but the opposite can occur.

India Alleges U.N. Responsible For Size Error

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian politicians say the United Nations is responsible for school children around the world getting bad geography lessons.

Furthermore, India's permanent representative at the U.N. has been asked to protest and see that the matter is corrected.

The squabble, which broke out in the present session of Parliament, involves that old quarrel on the sub-continent — Kashmir.

Members of Parliament complained that a U.N. publication "India-1953" gave India's area as 1,269,640 square miles, while "India-1963" lists it as 1,261,597 square miles. This "loss" of 8,000 square miles bothered the members of Parliament.

Education Minister M. C. Chagla, answering the critics' questions, explained that the U.N. secretariat had excluded Kashmir state from the total Indian territory, and that the state, claimed by both India and Pakistan, also had been excluded from a U.N. map of India which is distributed to schools.

Chagla said some discrepancy in area figures also resulted from improved survey techniques.

One result of the furor is that the Government of India has ordered that NO variations in India's territorial area be released by any government agency except at the time of census, once each 10 years.

London's Last Years To Hit Broadway

NEW YORK (AP) — A play based on Jack London's career is planned for Broadway production this fall to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the novelist's death.

The script, entitled "Dear Comrades," recently was tested by a community theater group in California, and received favorable comment from one of the writer's daughters, Mrs. Joan London Miller. Written by Margaret Norton, the drama covers the last 16 years of life of the author of "The Call of the Wild."

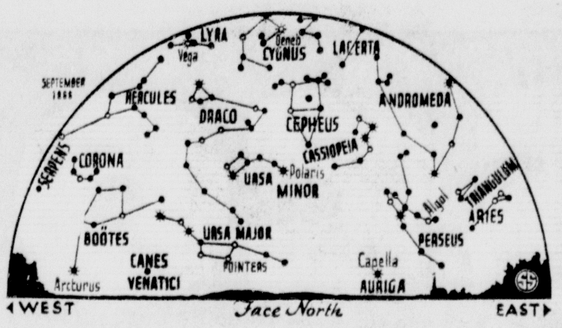
Resolution Banning Cow Slaughter Passed

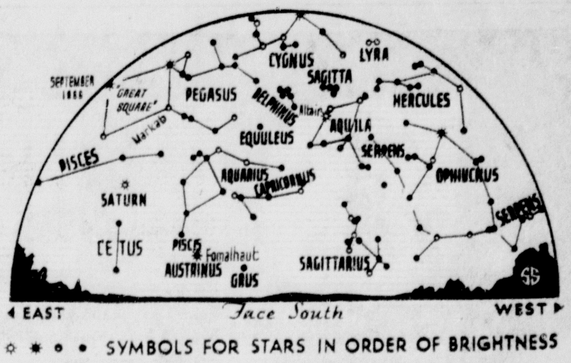
BOMBAY, India (AP) — A resolution banning cow slaughter within the limits of Greater Bombay was passed by the municipal corporation during August.

The resolution, aimed at protecting India's sacred cows, was introduced in May, 1954, and took 12 years to come up for consideration. The men who introduced and seconded the resolution, had died in the meantime.

Characteristic Stars Under Autumn Skies

By JAMES STOKLEY
Science Service





☼ ✱ ● • SYMBOLS FOR STARS IN ORDER OF BRIGHTNESS

September brings the beginning of autumn, in the Northern Hemisphere, and the evening skies show the star groups that are characteristic of this time of year.

High in the south shines the star Altair, marking the constellation of Aquila, the eagle. Still higher is Cygnus, the swan, with Deneb as the brightest star. A little to the west stands Vega, in Lyra, the lyre.

These stars can be located with the aid of the occompanying maps, which depict the heavens as they appear about 11:00 p.m., your own kind of daylight saving time, at the beginning of September. By the middle of the month they will look the same about 10 p.m. They present a similar aspect around 9 p.m. about Sept. 30.

Both Cygnus and Lyra are divided between the northern and southern sky maps. Vega is the brightest star shown, and it can be easily located high in the west. Deneb is almost directly overhead, and Altair is lower, slightly toward the southwest.

Just east of Cygnus is the figure of Pegasus, the winged horse, and in the eastern part of that group are the four stars that form the Great Square of Pegasus.

Below the Square are some of the stars that mark the figure of Pisces, the fishes, the constellation in which the only naked eye planet of the September evening sky is located. Saturn shines in Pisces as brightly as Altair.

Just to the right of Pisces is Aquarius, the water carrier, and below this group is the first magnitude star called Fomalhaut, which is in the southern fish, Pisces Austrinus. Fomalhaut is about as bright is Deneb, but it looks a good deal fainter because it is so much lower in the sky.

The light from a star near the horizon has to pass through a greater thickness of atmosphere than when the star is overhead, resulting in atmospheric absorbtion that dims its brilliance considerably.

In the southwest, to the right of and lower than Aquila, stands Ophiuchus, the serpent holder, a large constellation with few bright stars. It portrays a man holding a serpent, represented by the constellation of Serpens, which is in two parts. The snake's head is to the right, in the west, and its tail to the left, near Aquila.

Low in the north you can see the Big Dipper, part of Ursa Major, the great bear. To the left of the Dipper is Bootes, the herdsman, with the bright star Archturus. Like Fomulhaut, this star's light is dimmed because it is so low on the horizon.

Above the great bear is the little bear, Ursa Minor, with the poles tar, Polaris, close to the point around which the heavens seem to revolve. Cassiopeia, the queen, is farther right. The stars of this constellation now form a letter W, resting on one side. Perseus, is low in the northeast, with the famous variable star called Algol.

Below Perseus is the star Capella, port of Auriga, the charioteer. This first appearance of Cappella, gives a warning of winter's approach. On January evenings it will stand at the zenith, one of the number of bright stars that make the winter evening sky so brilliant.

Sheppard Pleads Not Guilty In New Trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard pleaded "not guilty" in a loud voice today to a charge of second-degree murder as he stood before Judge Roy F. McMahon in the same courtroom where he was convicted nearly 12 years ago in the bludgeon death of his first wife, Marilyn.

Judge McMahon set bond at $10,000 — the same amount as a federal bond on which Sheppard has been free since July 1964, while winning a habeas corpus action in federal court.

Sheppard's second wife, Ariane, a German divorcee whom he married two days after his release from the Ohio penitentiary where he served more than nine years, sat in the front row among about 12 spectators. Beside her was Sheppard's 19-year-old son, Samuel H. Jr.

The arraignment for Sheppard's second trial was recessed following Sheppard's plea in order to discuss in the judge's chambers a motion for change of venue which attorney F. Lee Bailey of Boston said he intended to make. Bailey was helping Russell A. Sherman as Sheppard's counsel.

The conference lasted about a half hour, during which time Sheppard was booked on the amended charge, and proceedings were ended for the day.

Judge McMahon said he would designate a trial judge "by the end of the week," and Bailey said he would file a motion for change of venue "next week."

Death Sentence For Attackers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A six-man, six-woman jury has decided on death in the gas chamber for two men convicted of kidnaping and raping four women near the University of Southern California.

A penalty jury deliberated more than six hours before announcing the sentence yesterday for Archie Simmons, 26, and Gene Daniels, 31, of Los Angeles.

The attacks for which the two were convicted last week occurred between last January and May.

Luce Approved For Interior Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Interior Committe unanimously approved today the nomination of Charles F. Luce of Walla Walla, Wash., to be undersecretary of interior.

Luce, 49, Bonneville power administrator would succeed John A. Carver Jr., appointed a member of the Federal Power Commission.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R - Calif., ranking Republican on the committee, said Luce, an attorney, is qualified for his new position by "education, experience and integrity," but reminded the nominee that he was leaving a position of regional responsibility for one of national responsibility.

Tractor-Grader Crushes Worker

RENO (AP — A construction worker was crushed to death beneath his earth moving vehicle yesterday.

Walter V. Melton, 22, of Kings Beach, Placer County, Calif., employed by Del Monte Construction Co., was working in the Red Rock area, the Washoe County sheriff's office said.

His tractor - grader hit an island of earth, bounced into the air and hurtled 65 feet. The trailer broke loose.

Bagley Critical Of Church Holding Brazil Property

Funds provided by the last legislative session for expansion of Mount Tamalpais State Park should be used to purchase the Brazil Ranch property rather than water district land, Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, declared in a letter to the State Park Commission.

Writing to Alfred J. Stern, chairman of the State Park Commission, Bagley warned that the "so-called First Church of America, which now has an interest in the Brazil property, intends to exploit that property in order to build up huge profits in their potential sale to the state."

"The so-called First Church of America is no more a church than was Captain Bleigh a headmaster of a Naval Science School." wrote Bagley. "These people are masquerading as a charitable institution and masquerading as a church, all the time amassing their potential profits in the name of the Lord.

". . . If monies are diverted from this purchase to other purchases in the area, the State is only giving the so-called church that much more time to build up their values and their profit."

Auctioned '65 Auto Brings In $12,350

NEW DELHI (AP) — A 1965 Chevrolet auctioned off by the government trading corporation brought a price of 95,000 rupees ($12,350).

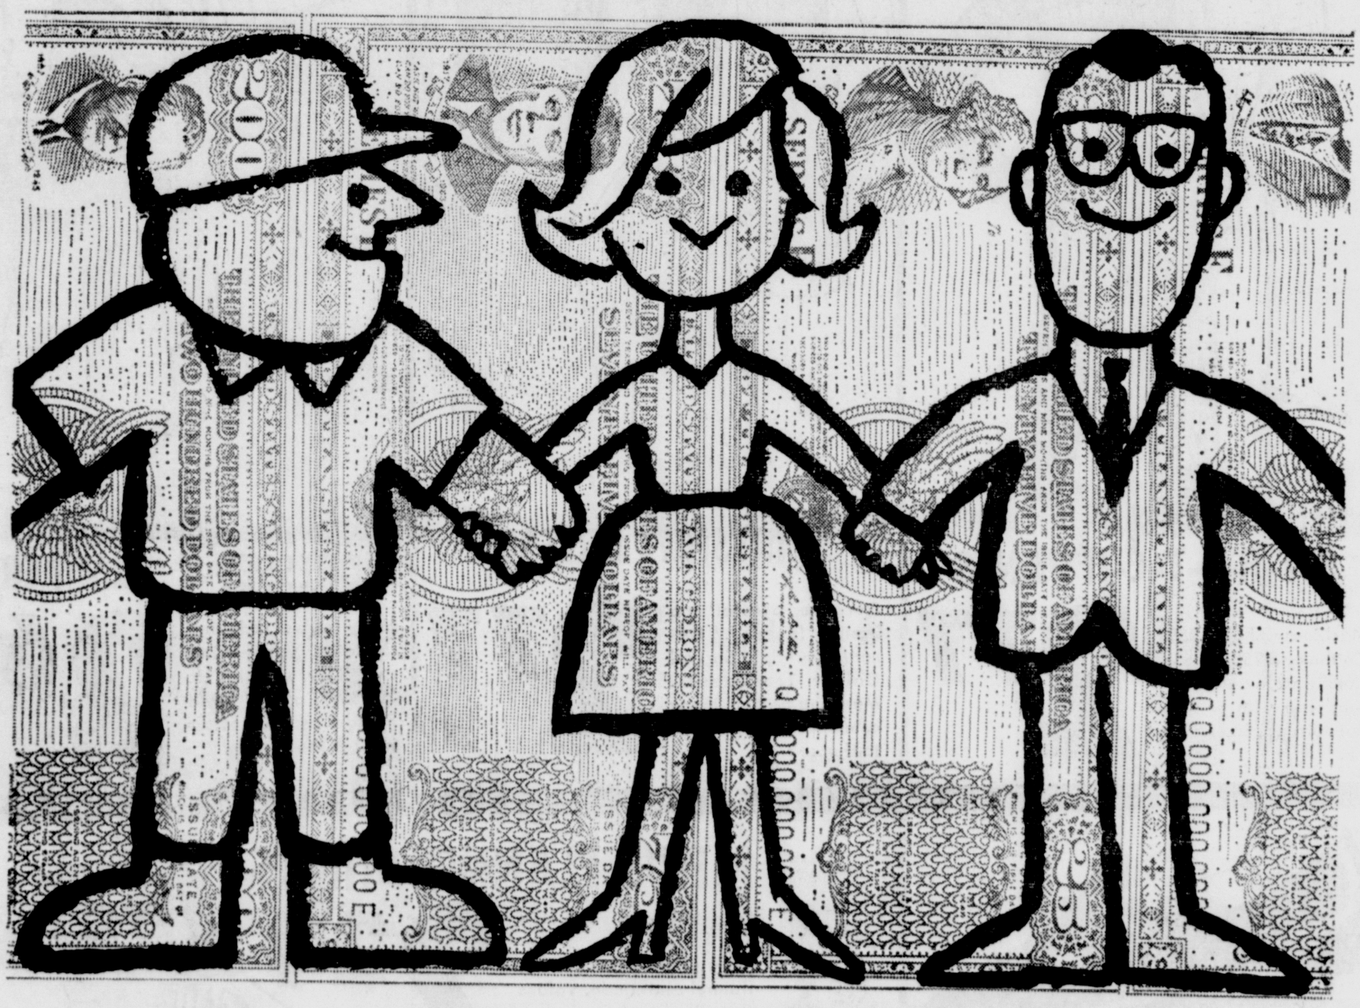
The lowest price bid for 127 cars auctioned was 8,000 rupees ($1,040) for a 1962 Russian-made Volga.

Collective Work Plea For Rhodesia

LONDON (AP) — Foreign Minister Sardar Swaran Singh of India today called on British Commonwealth nations to work out a collective solution to the Rhodesian problem. He intervened in Commonwealth debate now in its third day on this one knotty subject.

The gist of his speech was given to the press at a briefing shortly afterward. A spokesman for India said his government feels the Rhodesian problem is not one of Britain against the rest but that everybody in the Commonwealth has responsibilities to discharge. But India did not put forward any "cut and dried" solutions, the spokesman added.

"We have a feeling that at this stage of the debate, when we are still considering the problem, it would not be right to come up with a proposition. Also we would not like to see an Indian solution but a collective one."



How America's red-white-and-blue collar workers help keep America strong.

In May, 1941, top representatives of America's labor unions met with Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, and pledged their support of the Payroll Savings Plan for U.S. Savings Bonds.

Today, organized labor still endorses and actively supports the program. And the Payroll Savings Plan, just an experiment in 1941, now proudly boasts 8 million members, mostly union people, each sharing a personal interest in their future and the future of their country.

With the Payroll Savings Plan, saving for the future is downright easy—and painless. How can you spend money you don't even see?

And starts earning you the new, higher interest of 4.15% on every Bond you buy and hold to maturity.

Important things like a new home, education, that dream vacation—or your retirement.

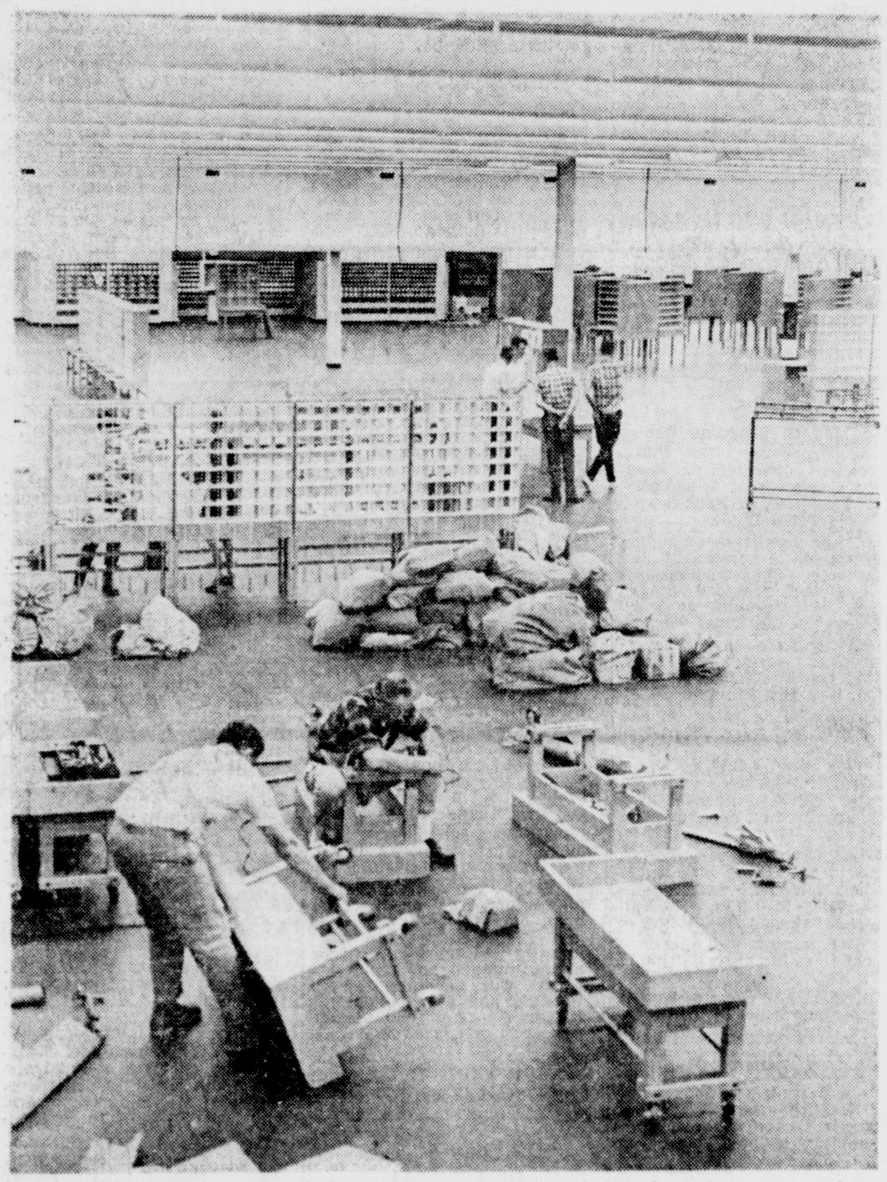
POST OFFICE CONTINUES WORK DURING MOVE

Racks were lined up behind San Rafael Post Office at Third and D streets today for removal to new main post office at 40 Bellam Boulevard, which will take over mail sorting and dispatch functions Monday. The old post office will become the Mission branch. (See story on page 1.



INTO THE NEW — Spacious new quarters for San Rafael Post Office on Bellam Boulevard were put to use even while furniture was still being moved in, with mail clerks sorting mail into bags hung on racks there while others were still at work on similar chore in former main post office at Third and D streets. (Independent-Journal photos)

Group Seeks Revision Of Elections

San Rafael's charter revision committee does not believe the San Rafael Board of Education should have the authority to appoint a mayor or city councilmen.

Under the 1912 charter, the council has the power to fill vacancies in elective offices including the board of education. But if the council fails to fill the vacancy in 20 days, the vacancy will be filled by a majority vote of the board of education.

The result is that under some circumstances the council can appoint school board members and the school board in turn can appoint councilmen.

Committee members agreed last night that the council should be given 30 days rather than 20 to appoint a councilman or mayor when a vacancy occurs. They also agreed that if the council fails to appoint a successor in 30 days, then there should be an election to fill the post.

Committee members did not include the offices of police chief, city attorney, treasurer and city clerk in their motion because they previously voted to have these posts appointive rather than elective.

Committee member John D. La Noue said the "board of education should be eliminated in every respect from the city charter."

The boundaries of the city and its two school districts are not co-terminus, he noted. Therefore there are school board members who live outside the city, yet under the charter would have the power to appoint city officials.

"The city has no jurisdiction in terms of school districts," LaNoue said.

Chairman Roy M. Michael said he is gathering information on the school issue. He said much study will be necessary before any major recommendation is made.

City Tax Provisions Muddle Charter Revision Committee

San Rafael's city charter revision committee tangled with tax rate limitations last night and wound up with more motions dying than passing.

Committee member Thomas P. Boyd said the $1 general fund tax rate limit should be abolished.

Limitations can be a "stranglehold on the operation of government" and "have become unrealistic at various times," he said. There have been times when the city "couldn't proceed because of limitations."

Boyd said he preferred "to trust in the good sense of those elected. If you don't like what they're doing, you can throw them out."

WRONG POLICY

Chairman Roy M. Michael held that giving the city council the right to tax without limit would be the wrong taxation philosophy.

Boyd countered that there are no limits placed on state and federal taxation, and it is farther removed from local control.

Committeeman John D. LaNoue said the charter should contain some maximum. He suggested that special taxes for the library and employee retirement be included in the general fund and the limit raised to $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation.

City Mgr. Dan. E. Andersen noted that Mill Valley's tax rate is more than $2, and commented that "tax limitations are a farce today."

LOSS IN TAXES

He said an auto agency has moved from San Rafael resulting in a loss of more than $25,000 a year in sales tax revenues, and there is a rumor that another auto agency will leave the city. "I think there will be a crisis," he said.

"If we could get another one per cent of sales taxes we could pay you to live in the city," Andersen quipped.

Boyd moved that the $1 limit be abolished, but there was no second. He also contended that the special taxes should be abolished as such and included in the general fund tax without limitations.

Michael moved that the park levy be made a special tax, but there was no second. By taking the park levy out of the general fund category it would in effect increase the city's taxing ability, he said.

The committe gave first approval to a recommendation that the minimum tax rate, 4 cents for parks and .7 of a mill for the library, be eliminated. The vote on each issue was 4-1 with Gerald H. Purcell dissenting.

The committee then voted 3-2, with Boyd and Leon H. Sigard dissenting, that there should be a maximum on the library levy, but postponed setting a maximum until their next session, Sept. 19.

HIRING AND FIRING

The committee agreed that the charter should be revised to conform with practices. For example, the charter gives the commission the power to hire and fire employees and set salaries, whereas in practice this is the function of the city council.

The committee also agreed that the charter should be revised to include the combined park and recreation commission which exists. It now refers only to park commission.

Boyd, a former park and recreation commissioner, said it was frustrating to serve when the "city council in one fell swoop overturns you."

Chairman Michael said he will file a minority report on the issue of how much the city can spend for promotion and advertising. Last month the committee voted 3-2 to eliminate the $1,000 limit in the charter, but set no new ceiling.

ELIMINATE SURVEYS

Michael proposed that the $1,000 limit be boosted to $10,000. Request for advertising and promotion funds should be in writing and should include an itemized budget showing how funds woulud be spent, he proposed.

He also recommended that there be no money spent for surveys or reports, thereby eliminating the system now operating whereby the city has hired the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce to prepare a report to circumvent the $1,000 limit on promotion.

Michael also proposed that there be provision in the charter for a hotel-motel tax, with two-thirds of the proceeds to be used for advertising and promotion. The amount to be used for promotion should be either the $10,000 or the share of hotel tax proceeds, whichever is greater, but not both, he said.

The committee's next session will be Sept. 19 at 8 p.m. at San Rafael City Hall.

Old Council Gives Way To Citizens Group

The 15-year-old Tiburon Peninsula Coordinating Council gave way to a two-month-old citizen group and voted itself out of exsistence last night.

Chairman Ralph Wertheimer said the council voted to turn over $190 in its treasury to the new Tiburon Peninsula Advisory Committee. Wertheimer, who is a director of the advisory committee, all TPCC members were urged to join the new group.

CAN CARRY ON

"We feel the advisory committee can carry on the work of preserving the integrity and beauty of the whole peninsula," he said.

The council had an active history during the 1950s, often leading peninsula groups before county and state boards. It began to wane around 1961 and became dormant when Tiburon was incorporated in 1964.

The group was instrumental in developing the 1956 county master plan for the peninsula and was active in several incorporation attempts.

It also provided the training ground for peninsula civic leaders. Tiburon Mayor John S. Hoffmire and Councilmen Thomas E. Drohan and Branwell D. Fanning were members. Chairman Stephen H. Nash of the Tiburon Planning Commission and Chairman George V. Banning and member William Rafter of the Belvedere Planning Commission were also active. All of the orginal Tiburon City Council were members: Anne L. Ellinwood, Jacqueline Parnell, Fred C. Hannahs, and Leo Souza. Reed School Board member David D. Ring was also active.

DELEGATE BASIS

The TPCC was organized on a delegate basis from various peninsula groups and associations. The advisory committee was formed with Tiburon City Council backing, on an individual membership basis.

The TPCC will turn over its files to the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society.

Sign Filter Contract

Tiburon Sanitary District directors Tuesday night awarded Eimo Corp. of San Mateo contract for a sludge dewatering filter system for the Paradise Drive treatment plant on a low bid of $22,100. Only other bidder was Coast Pump Co. at $24,000, secretary James Murray reported.

Battery Stolen

Margaret A. Long, a Reed School teacher, reported to the Tiburon sheriff's substation yesterday that a $35 battery was stolen from her car, parked on Lyford Drive, while she was at the school between 8:30 a.m. and noon.

Bret Harte Redevelopment Plans Get Parks Commission Approval

Plans for redevelopment of Bret Harte Park were approved last night by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission, which also heard a report on development of Santa Margarita Park.

After hearing some of the 15 residents of the area express concern about putting a public restroom in the quarter-acre Bret Harte Park at the end of Irwin Street, the three commissioners present instructed Parks Director Joseph D. Rodota to proceed with the $3,500 in improvements.

Absent were commissioners Norma Wall and Troy E. Lewis.

Rodota's go-ahead orders were given after he assured the residents the toilet facilities would be attractively designed, kept clean, locked at night, and so placed as to enable passing patrol cars to view the area.

Rodota told the commission that the approximately $65,000 Santa Margarita Park project was progressing satisfactorily.

A. J. Bresnan and Co., San Rafael contractors, have completed about 80 per cent of their drainage, paving and construction of restrooms, Rodota said. Work should be finished in about three weeks, he estimated. The city staff will then proceed with landscaping and installation of playground equipment at the five-acre park.

Scott Tilden, park department foreman, reported on the program of summer employment for youth, in which 60 young people worked in six two-week shifts of 10 at a time. The program about estimated $4,500, according to Rodota, and benefited the city as well as the youths.

Among work accomplished by the young people, Tilden said, was design and installation of an automatic sprinkler system at Santa Margarita Park under the supervision of the department staff.

The commission gave permission to Terra Linda Recreation District to use two tennis courts at Albert Park on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to noon. The commission, however, warned that the privilege would be withdrawn if anyone in the district's program used the other two courts at Albert Park in those hours, thus denying them to the general public.

One Injured As Double Riders Thrown On Bike

Riding on the handlebars of a bicycle proved less hazardous than riding on the seat, two 12-year-old Mill Valley boys learned yesterday.

Clifford Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Lamb of 661 Ridgewood Avenue, was pumping his bike downhill on Evergreen Avenues at about 2:30 p.m. when his passenger, Garry Kamp, reportedly got his feet in the front wheel spokes. Clifford was thrown off the cycle, striking his head on the ground.

The boy was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a concussion and multiple bruises. Garry, who lives at 104 La Verne Avenue, was uninjured.

Closing Extends Nomination Filing

Because of tomorrow's Admission Day holiday, the deadline for filing nomination papers for three positions on the Terra Linda Recreation and Park District Board has been extended to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The deadline for filing at the district office was to be tomorrow, but the office will be closed. Deputy county counsel Thomas G. Hendricks advised that the deadline be extended one day.

Burglar Gets $30 In Market Break-in

A burglar smashed a glass door of the Center Market, 1119 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, last night and took $30 in coins and $20 in checks, according to San Anselmo police.

Sgt. Donald E. Nelson of the police department discovered the burglary at 11:10 p.m.

Anderson Cites Brown Contribution

Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson pointed to California's growing economy and continued prosperity as evidence of sound administration, in a speech this morning in San Rafael.

He spoke to about 100 members of the Marvelous Marin Breakfast Club at the Meadows.

Anderson listed "quality education," expansion of recreation areas, and medical care for the aged as among the achievements of the Brown administration.

Because of the tremendous population growth in California, the state now ranks fifth among all nations in total production, the lieutenant governor declared.

The total state budget keeps growing, largely because of the need for more schools, water projects, and better highways, he said.

Now you can get genuine Burgie Draft Beer to take-along anywhere, anytime...

NOTICE OF TRIAL OF CONDEMNATION ACTION AND OF HEARING ON APPORTIONMENT OF CONDEMNATION AWARD AND SEVERANCE DAMAGES

NO. 39855

BY ORDER OF THE MARIN COUNTY SUPERIOR COURT, THIS NOTICE IS DIRECTED TO ALL THOSE TRUST DEED INVESTORS WHO INVESTED IN THOSE TRUST DEEDS SECURED BY THE REEDLANDS UNIT NO. 5 PROPERTY LOCATED IN THE CITY OF TIBURON IN THE COUNTY OF MARIN, CALIFORNIA, WHICH TRUST DEEDS WERE EXECUTED BY REEDLANDS, INC., AND SOLD BY LOS ANGELES TRUST DEED AND MORTGAGE EXCHANGE, AND TO ALL OTHER PERSONS WHOM THIS MAY CONCERN:

YOU AND EACH OF YOU WILL PLEASE TAKE NOTICE:

1. That there are 200 such trust deeds, each purportedly secured by a separate parcel of land in the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property consisting of approximately 108 acres of land located in the City of Tiburon in the County of Marin, State of California. A true description of the Reedlands No. 5 property securing said trust deeds and affected by this action is set forth in Exhibit "I", which is annexed hereto and made a part hereof.

2. That this action was filed as a condemnation action whereby the plaintiff school district seeks to acquire some 47.75 acres of land on Tiburon Peninsula for the construction of a high school. That these 47.75 acres of land are described in Exhibit "II", annexed hereto, and made a part hereof.

3. That the land sought to be condemned is a part of a larger parcel of land called the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. On or about March 9, 1959, Reedlands, Inc., issued some 200 promissory notes, each of which was in the principal sum of $2,342.86, with interest at the rate of 10% per annum and each of which was secured by a separate deed of trust purportedly covering a separate parcel within the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract. These promissory notes and accompanying deeds of trust were thereafter assigned to the Los Angeles Trust Deed and Mortgage Exchange and were then sold to various trust deed investors.

4. That of the two hundred trust deeds covering property standing in the name of Reedlands, Inc., 108 purport to cover particular parcels which are entirely or partly in the area sought to be condemned and 92 purport to cover particular parcels outside the taking area. That certain of the trust deed investors have filed an answer and cross-complaint in this action purportedly on behalf of the entire group of investors in the 200 trust deeds.

5. That Hermann Schneider and the other trust deed investors filing said answer and cross-complaint ask that this Court treat all of the holders and beneficiaries of the said 200 trust deeds equally, without regard to the location in the tract of the property purportedly securing any individual trust deed, and that the Court determine the fair market value of the 47.75 acres of property taken and the severance damages to the balance of the Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract and divide said sums equally among the owners, holders and beneficiaries of said 200 trust deeds after deducting the costs and expenses of this litigation, including reasonable attorneys' fees.

6. That Hermann Schneider and the other trust deed investors filing said answer and cross-complaint contend that this is the only equitable and fair distribution of the condemnation award and the severance damages, relying on the California Supreme Court cases of Chance vs. Superior Court (1962) 58 C. 2d, 275, and Hink vs. Superior Court (1962) 58 C. 2d, 921. That said contention is based in part on the fact that the said Reedlands Unit No. 5 tract was never properly subdivided, and they therefore contend that the 200 trust deeded parcels do not exist separately from the rest of the tract, as a matter of law.

7. That the Pre-Trial Conference in this action was held July 25, 1966, and the Marin County Superior Court made its Pre-Trial Conference Order setting forth and defining the issues to be resolved by the trial of this action.

8. That the Court has determined in its Pre-Trial Conference Order that for the purpose of trying the valuation phase of this litigation, that defendants Hermann Schneider, and the other defendant investors represented by attorneys C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, W. Alan Thody, Dell L. Falls and Hill, Farrer & Burrill, properly represent the trust deed investors in the said 200 trust deeds.

9. That the Court has determined that if other defendants desire to present valuation testimony or otherwise participate in the trial, such participation will be permitted where it appears it will aid in the determination of the issues to be resolved and will be controlled only to the extent necessary to expedite the orderly presentation of the evidence.

10. That the trial of this action will be held in two states, as follows:

a.) The valuation phase, in which the Court or a jury will determine the value of 47.75 acres of property taken by the plaintiff, the severance damages sustained by the balance of the said 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property, and the special benefits, if any, to the remaining Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property.

b.) The apportionment phase, which will be tried following the determination of the fair market value, and the total amount of damages. In this phase, the Court will determine who will be entitled to share in the award, and the amount to be received by each.

11. That the Court determined in its Pre-Trial Conference Order that for purposes of valuation the property sought to be taken shall be treated as a single large parcel of 47.75 acres which is part of the larger Reedlands Unit No. 5 parcel, and that the principal issues to be determined in the valuation phase of the trial of this action are the following:

(1) Fair market value of the 47.75 acres taken.
(2) Severance damages, if any, to the remainder of the larger 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 parcel of which the land taken is a part; and
(3) Special benefits, if any, to the said remainder of the larger 108 acre Reedlands Unit No. 5 parcel.

A subsidiary legal issue to be determined by the Court is whether plaintiff, in effect took possession of the land sought to be taken, on or about May 5, 1965, by causing earth to be removed therefrom, and whether therefrom interest on any award should run from that date.

12. That following the determination of the amount of the award this Court will hold apportionment proceedings pursuant to Section 1246.1 of the Code of Civil Procedure. That the basic issues to be determined in these apportionment proceedings arise out of the contentions with respect to whether the trust deed investors are to be treated as a class and are as follows:

(1) Whether the trust deed investors may properly be treated as a class in asserting their claims as defendants in the condemnation action, taking into account the factors normally governing the maintenance of class actions and the factual evidence pertaining thereto;
(2) If, under the facts and circumstances of this case the trust deed investors may properly be treated as a class do defendants Schneider properly represent the class defendants in the action;
(3) Does the class consist of all trust deed investors who hold trust deeds on parcels of land formerly standing in the name of Reedlands, Inc., regardless of whether said parcels are inside or outside of the area sought to be condemned, or must the class be confined only to those trust deed investors whose trust deeds describe parcels within the area sought to be taken;
(4) Assuming the class consists of all trust deed investors is there any basis for treating those trust deed investors who hold trust deeds on parcels inside the area sought to be taken differently from those holding trust deeds on parcels outside this area, or, should all trust deed investors be treated alike in the apportionment of the award;
(5) Are there any individual trust deed investors who, regardless of whether a class is determined to exist, are entitled to be treated as not being members of the class and are therefore entitled to assert separate claims to a portion of the proceeds of the award based upon their claimed individual interest in particular parcels;
(6) Are there any members of the class who under the facts of this case are entitled to be treated other than on a pro-rata basis in apportioning the award;
(7) Should the award be treated as part of a common fund to be added to any proceeds eventually obtained from the foreclosure and sale of the entire larger parcel and thereafter apportioned among all of the trust deed investors after deduction for litigation expenses and attorneys' fees as allowed by the court;
(8) Should the award be apportioned only among those trust deed investors whose trust deeds cover parcels within the area sought to be taken and if so should there be deducted a proportionate amount for litigation expenses and attorneys' fees as allowed by the court, in this condemnation action;
(9) The amount of the County of Marin's claim for unpaid taxes.

13. That in the event the court determines that there are individual trust deed investors who are entitled to be treated as not being members of any class, there will then be a further hearing, which will be before the trial court or jury as the parties may request, for the purpose of placing a valuation upon any such separately claimed interests.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that plaintiffs' Complaint, the Amended Answer and Cross-Complaint of Defendants Hermann Schneider, et al., and the Pre-Trial Conference Order referred to above are on file in the above-entitled action No. 39855 in the Superior Court Clerk's office in the Marin County Courthouse in San Rafael, California, and may there be examined by all interested parties. All interested parties may obtain free copies of these documents by writing or telephoning the undersigned attorneys at their address below. IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THIS ACTION YOU SHOULD READ THESE DOCUMENTS.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the trial of this action will commence in Department No. 2 of the above-entitled Court located in the Marin County Court House Building, located in San Rafael, California, on October 10, 1966, at 10:00 o'clock A. M. or as soon thereafter as this matter may be heard, or on any other date to which said matter is continued by said Court at said time and place.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that at said trial and hearing the Court will be asked to determine the fair market value of said property taken, and the amount of severance damage and special benefits, if any, and that the Court will be asked to distribute the said condemnation award and damages equally among the holders of the 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds, after deducting reasonable costs and attorneys' fees, and to enter judgment accordingly, and that anyone who desires to object to these proceedings or to any proceedings connected therewith, or who wishes to appear at said trial or hearing, and who can establish himself to be a person interested in the said Reedlands Unit No. 5 property, shall at the aforesaid time and place appear, and in the event of failure so to appear, will be deemed to have consented and acceded to the within action and the proceedings in connection therewith, including the treatment of the holders of the 200 trust deeds as a class, and the above-entitled Court will enter its judgment accordingly in this action, and will set other hearing and trial dates, and will establish attorneys' fees and costs to be allowed to counsel herein out of the funds recovered, and will make such other and further rulings and orders as it deems necessary or proper.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Court at the aforesaid trial and hearing will establish a time and a place for filing and hearing the applications for award of attorneys' fees and costs to those attorneys of record who represent defendants Hermann Schneider and the other defendant trust deed investors who purportedly represent the entire class of the holders and beneficiaries of the said 200 Reedlands Unit No. 5 trust deeds, namely C. Douglas Wikle, Walter Atkinson, David B. Boller, Dell L. Falls, W. Alan Thody and Hill, Farrer & Burrill. Said attorneys will petition the said court for award to them of reasonable contingent attorneys' fees payable out of the funds recovered herein, in a sum equal to 25% of all funds recovered, together with the reasonable costs and expenses. Said hearing on attorneys' fees and costs is to be held subsequent to the trial at a time to be set at the conclusion of said trial.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the Court at the aforesaid trial and hearing will establish a time and a place for hearing of an application by defendant Hermann Schneider and the other defendants represented by said attorneys for the refund to defendants of those costs of court and attorneys' fees thus far advanced by defendants to their counsel which are allocable to these legal proceedings and other proceedings regarding the Reedlands Unit No. 5 real property and contributed to the successful conclusion of the Reedlands Unit 5 litigation.

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE that the individual trust deed investors need not be present at the said trial or hearing in order to benefit therefrom. THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. Section 8.04.045 is added to the Marin County Code to read as follows:

SECTION 2. Section 8.04.050 of the Marin County Code is amended to read as follows: CONFINEMENT AND QUARANTINE. Unlicensed dogs under the age of four months shall be confined to the property of the owner and all dogs shall be so confined for thirty days after receiving the initial rabies vaccination. If any person shall fail or refuse to obey any lawful order for the quarantine of an animal for observation of rabies, any animal control officer may impound the animal for such quarantine at the expense of the owner at the rate of One Dollar and Seventy-Five Cents per day.

SECTION 3. Section 8.04.060 of the Marin County Code is amended to read as follows: LICENSE FEE. A dog license fee of Four Dollars ($4.00) is hereby imposed. Said fee is due and payable with the issuance of a license as required in Section 8.04.030. The license fee shall be for licensing during the fiscal year in which application is made for the license, and may be prorated. Such proration shall be allowed only for licenses applied for after January 1 if the owner of the dog to be licensed became a resident of the County of Marin after January 1, or if the dog attained the age of four months after January 1. The prorated fee for a license applied for by a new resident or a person owning a dog attaining the age of four months after January 1 shall be Two Dollars ($2.00).

No pro-rated license shall be issued upon application by a new resident of the County unless satisfactory proof is presented to the licensing authority that such residence commenced on or after January 1.

SECTION 4. Section 8.04.070 of the Marin County Code is amended to read as follows: DELINQUENT LICENSE PENALTY. Any owner failing to procure and pay for such license within the period allowed in Section 8.04.030 shall pay a delinquent penalty for such failure in the sum of Three Dollars ($3.00). SECTION 5. Section 8.04.100 of the Marin County Code is amended to read as follows: EXCEPTIONS. Any dog bred or raised to be a guide dog which meets the criteria established by the Pound Keeper for such guide dogs, or owned and used by a blind person as a guide dog, is exempt from the license fee while being so raised, or while being so owned and used, but is not exempt from being licensed or from any required vaccination. The provisions of Section 8.04.030 shall not apply to any dog owned by or in the care of a nonresident of the county who is traveling through the county or temporarily sojourning therein for a period not exceeding thirty days.

SECTION 6. Section 8.04.150 of the Marin County Code is amended to read as follows: REDEMPTION FEES. No dog or other animal may be released by the poundkeeper to the owner until all charges, cost of redemption, and the current year's license charge have been paid. No other charge shall be made for such animal except for the current year's license fee, if the dog is unlicensed.

SECTION 8. Section 8.04.240 of the Marin County Code is amended to read as follows: COMMERCIAL ANIMAL ESTABLISHMENTS. It shall be unlawful for any person to operate or maintain any commercial animal establishment without first obtaining a permit therefor. An annual permit fee of Twenty Dollars is hereby imposed for such purposes. Such permit shall expire on the last day of the twelfth month from the date of issue. In the event that application for renewal is not made on or before the date of expiration, a delinquency charge of Twenty Per Cent of the fee shall be assessed. For every calendar month of delinquency an additional Twenty Per Cent of the fee shall be assessed.

The poundkeeper shall, in connection with the issuance of any such permit, establish such condition as may be necessary to provide for the humane care and treatment of the dogs, cats, and other animals either domestic or wild. The poundkeeper may deny or revoke such permit when necessary to assure the humane care or treatment of the dogs, cats or other animals whether they are domestic or wild.

Lady Bird Sets Western Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will launch a four-day, pre-election trip to three Western states Sept. 20 to boost scenic highways, parks, dams and Indian crafts.

The trip — the First Lady's first beauty and conservation journey since mid-June—will take her to California, Arizona and New Mexico.

Sources said it is hoped the visit, billed by the White House as solely in the interest of improving America's visage, would help California Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown in his race for re-election against Republican Ronald Reagan.

The general outline of the cross-country trip was announced today by the White House. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to the First Lady, said more details will be announced later.

Didn't Get Prize But Hit Jackpot

OKLAHOMA CIT Y (AP) — Mary Cook, 16, didn't win the $500 cash on an Oklahoma City radio station's giveaway contest last night, but she figures she hit the jackpot, anyway.

The station's telephone call may have saved her life.

Mary was sleeping and her parents were shopping when Radio Station WKY called to say her number had been picked at random for a chance at a prize.

Waking up to answer the phone, she discovered the kitchen was on fire.

"I'm sorry, sir, but my house is on fire," she told the station announcer, and hung up to telephone the fire department. Firemen extinguished the blaze quickly.

Nine thousand pedestrians were killed in the United States in 1965.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Monroe Children Start Out A Saga

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —ABC-TV isn't much on the old folks' audience, so it took hardly any time at all last night for the network's new Western series, "The Monroes," to dispose of the aging parents of the show's family.

Momma and Poppa Monroe departed this vale early in the hour by drowning in the Snake River as they and their brood headed west to establish a home in Wyoming, and this immediately provided ABC-TV with a frontier family in which nobody is more than 18 years old. Art gets along with business very well, thank you, at ABC-TV.

MAN OF FAMILY

The 18-year-old senior member of the Monroes is Michael Anderson Jr., and he is now the man of the family and the star of the series, which should sit very well with teen-agers who can only dream of such ecstasy. The four other orphans of the Monroes are all siblings of Master Anderson, on screen, and range down to the age of 6.

The immediate choice of the new man of the family is whether to turn around and head home or continue on to establish the homestead his poppa was aiming for. If he turned around, of course, there wouldn't be any series, so the only real choice was onward.

INDIAN HELPS

En route, you can imagine what trials and tribulations there are, for cast and audience alike, unless, of course, you are fond of child actors. Anyway, an Indian named Jim helps them out and attaches himself to the family, and an English baronial type who runs most of the land lets them settle on their homestead even though his henchmen are all for giving them the heave-ho. Such henchmen can't be all bad. They have the makings of television critics. I trust the message on the show is clear.

Robert Lansing and Dana Wynter, the principal of another new Wednesday night ABC-TV series, "The Man Who Never Was," are positively ancient compared to the Monroes. Mr. Lansing is flirting with 40, and Miss Wynter is over 21, and they are as splendidl-ooking a couple as you will ever see on the screen or off. Unfortunately, this pleasing asset is not likely to improve the rather pedestrian nature of their half-hour spy series set in Europe, and filmed there despite the howls of Hollywood unions.

In brief, Mrs. Lansing plays a spy who has a lookalike who is a playboy, and this latter fellow is mistaken for him and is fatally perforated by a bullet from a rotten Red. The dead follow's wife, Miss Wynter, doesn't want anybody to know he is deceased or else his grasping stepbrother will grab the family fortune, so she agrees to continue the deception for Lansing, pretending he is her mate. The idea isn't bad, and in the two stars the material will get the maximum professionalism. But it all depends on the writers. They'll have to make the scripts zingy, more lilting and stylish, because there isn't anything we don't already know about spies and the rotten Reds.

The National Park Service, created by Congress in 1916, today protects more than 230 great parks, shrines, seashores, riverways, parkways, battlefields, cultural and industrial sites of historic interest, and other public treasures.

'Anything Can Happen In The Stretch..'

PRESS BOX VIEWS

By JACK HANLEY

Garry Schumacher was hard at work in his Candlestick Park office when the Giants set out on their last road trip 12 days ago. He still was hard at work when the ball club came home in the early morning hours today.

These past weeks Schumacher has been putting together the 1966 World Series book of the Giants. Naturally, he would like to see his work published but the outcome of the road trip didn't prompt him to start the presses, although last night he really felt like pressing the button.

Schumacher has been the public relations chief of the Giants for the past 20 years during which he has gone through the World Series publication routine a dozen times. He never was happier when his first production in 1951 didn't die in a printing plant.

"Bobby Thomson saved that one," said Schumacher, "with his shot heard 'round the world in the final game of the '51 playoff against the Dodgers."

In 1954 Schumacher didn't have to stay up all night with the printer. The Giants won the '54 National League flag by a comfortable five-game margin with 97 wins against the Dodgers' second place effort that year of 92.

In 1962 it was another playoff year with the Dodgers and Billy Pierce brought that pennant in.

"We still have 22 to play this time," said Schumacher, "and anybody who knows the National League knows anything can—and usually does happen—in the stretch."

Doesn't it get a bit frustrating to edit World Series programs that are never published? What about all that work last year that wound up in an incinerator?

"You got to be kidding," said Schumacher, "Some guys have been writing stuff all their lives and never have had anything printed. At least, I've seen three of my efforts come off the press."

Of course, the 1951 World Series book will always be Schumacher's favorite. He still looks fondly at it and is very proud of his diagrammed layout of Thomson's homer in the old Polo Grounds, a homer that made an unhappy man of Ralph Branca.

"The 1962 playoff was a first class pippin that gave us our first pennant besides the Golden Gate," said Schumacher.

"But for sheer drama and a staccato end to the greatest stretch run ever made by a ball club, I got to vote for the 1951 finish."

CERRUDO NAMED TO WORLD CUP GOLF TEAM

San Rafael's Ron Cerrudo has been named to the U.S. World Cup golf team which will compete with amateur teams from 27 nations Oct. 27-30 in Mexico City.

Don Allen of Rochester, N.Y., Jim Wiechers of Atherton and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., were picked as alternates.

Beman will be the veteran on the squad. It will be his fourth straight year on the U. S. World Cup team.

A Sentimental Time Of Year; Trojans So Well Remembered

THE TROJANS: Golly, but this is a sentimental time of year. Falling leaves, when the days dwindle on to a precious few. And all that corn.

But there's something about the sound of pigskin sizzling on a hot gridiron and the roar of crowds that drag your memory back many autumns ago to your peanut butter-and-jelly days. When life was one big comic book and you played one-foot-off-the-gutter and kick-the-can and post office with a passion. When you lived and died with Renfro of the Royal Mounted Police and the Lone Ranger and trembled at the diabolical plots of I Love A Mystery. And you thrilled to the heroics of Davey O'Brien and the Yankee Clipper and the Brown Bomber.

IN SPORTS you emulated your idols, down to the last Wheaties flake, and at this time of year you spent most of your Saturday afternoons in huddles on pastures and sandlots that were magnificent stadia in your childish imagination, skinning your knees and noses and chipping your teeth in gridiron classics.

Our sandlot struggles were ALL Big, BIG Games. They were Army-Navy, Cal-Stanford and Harvard-Yale rolled up into one big glob of sweatshirts and Levi's and Keds. Yours were too.

MY TEAM was the Fairfax Trojans and our traditional enemies were the Pastori Pigs. Our Kezar Stadium was a rutted pasture at Deer Park Meadows and it was beautiful. The end zones were redwood groves and the sidelines were a dirt road on one side, a creek on the other.

We clever Trojans devised fabulous double and triple and quadruple reverses, hidden ball tricks and flying wedges that only little boys can concoct because they were much too complicated for adults to understand.

OUR TROJAN huddles were strategic masterpieces, diagrammed in dirt, and the conversations went something like this:

"Okay, you guys. Let's give 'em the ol' Fong Dong Special this time. Collins, you knock that li'l garlic snapper on his butt and . . ."

"WAITAMINIT, WAITAMINIT, Gil! I hit that li'l garlic snapper the last time and I'm still bleeding. YOU hit 'im an' I'LL be the quarterback this time or I won't let you play with my new chemistry set tomorrow . . ."

"Listen, yellow belly green guts. It's MY ball an' I'm the cap'n, so YOU hit that tough little garlic snapper or I'll take my ball an' go home."

"AW, GEEZ, you dirty guy. Awright. But my mudder'll KILL me if I tear my good jeans."

"Okay, now. Trimble, you go lay down on the sidelines and hide behind that bush. McCarthy, you hit that stinky linebacker, hold him tight til you count to 10, then run over to the creek and pretend you gotta see a Chinaman 'bout a music lesson. And take your thumb outta your mouth. Backman, you run down to that dirt pile and fall down like you're dead. Newman, you center the ball to ME when I holler eight the third time on the signals. Then, when Collins cold cocks the garlic snapper, you fall on top of him an' fer goshsakes don't let 'im get up. Then I'll fake to Bruce first, then fake to Jensen, then fake to Gardner, and then I'll fade back to the big boulder. When I holler Fong Dong, everybody get up an' run like hell to the redwood trees an' I'll heave it to you. Gentlemen, start your engines. Let's go, you Trojans."

WELL, THINGS worked out alright, I guess. We scored a lot of touchdowns and so did the Pigs. And we had our casualties. Like the time Trimble jumped for the pass and fell in the creek. He caught it. Plus three trout. McCarthy caught a beautiful case of poison oak about twice a season. Collins still can't stand garlic. All of us stepped on a snake at least once a season. And, yes, we left acres of human flesh from our backsides on the hard ground. Not to mention the blood.

BUT THE funny part of it was we always came back the following Saturday and so did those crazy Pastori Pigs.

And even though it all happened so very many autumns ago, I still get sentimental at this time of the year and wish I could go back to Deer Park Meadows for just one more big game. Or, at least one more huddle.

How about you?

WINNING RUN—The Giants' Willie Mays, racing all the way from first on a single by rookie Frank Johnson, slides into home plate in 12th inning of last night's game at Los Angeles. Mays, Johnson Down Dodgers

By BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A daring run by the amazing Willie Mays on a game-winning base hit by a brand new rookie playing in his first major league game produced these results for fans to review today:

—The San Francisco Giants defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-2, in the 12th inning of a 3-hour and 13-minute struggle last night.

—The victory propelled the Giants to a mere two percentage points behind the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League pennant chase, and the Dodgers remained 1½ games back in third place.

—The last game of the regular season rivalry between the two California clubs, unreeled before a record crowd of 54,993 in Dodger Stadium, made it 9-9 for the year against each other.

Both teams are idle today. The Giants returned home to open play Friday against Chicago and the Dodgers remain home to play Houston.

WINNING RUN

Frank Johnson?

Frank, 24, is well known in El Paso, Tex., his home town, and Phoenix, Ariz., where he has been playing outfield for the Giants' Pacific Coast League team.

Johnson, at 6-1, a rib-skinny 160-pounder, joined the big club Tuesday night. That was the first major league game he ever saw.

"When I saw all those people the night before, 53,000 or whatever it was, I got a little nervous," he admitted in the dressing room as he peeled off his shirt with one hand and devoured a hot dog from the other.

It was a fast ball and the victim—and loser—was Joe Moeller, against whom Johnson had batted in the Coast League.

Mays previously had been purposely walked. Willie, gimpy leg and all, circled second, went on to third —

Lou Johnson, no relation to Frank, threw the ball to second baseman Jimmy Lefebvre—

Mays rounded third, paused a split second and tore on in. Lefebvre's throw was on target but in the violent collision catcher Johnny Roseboro dropped the ball.

Asked why he kept running, Willie, in amazement at such a query, answered: "I wanted to win the ball game."

Had the third base coach flagged him down? "Man, I wasn't paying no attention to him," said Willie M.

Sandy Koufax, long since forgotten by this time, was flogged for a two-run homer by Jim Hart, scoring Mays, in the first inning. Sandy, seeking win No. 23, gave only five hits in seven innings before yielding to a pinch hitter, but the two runs held up until the fatal 12th. Frank Linzy was the eventual winner.

The Dodgers got a run in the fifth and tied it in the eighth on a triple by Willie Davis and a searing blast by Tommy Davis. W. Davis scored, but T. Davis was out on a shoestring, one-hand running catch by — who else?—Willie Mays.

AMERICA'S CLARK GRAEBNER

The Lonesomest Netter

By WILL GRIMSLY
Associated Press Sportswriters

— The lonesomest man in the National Tennis Championships today —and perhaps the proudest — is the 24-year-old son of a Cleveland doctor, Clark Graebner.

He's the lone American in a batch of invaders — five Australians, a Spaniard and an Englishmen — who square off in men's quarter-final matches today and tomorrow.

"I'm glad I won, but, gee, I'm sorry our other guys had to lose," Graebner said after he had survived a two-hour duel with England's Graham Stilwell 9-11, 8-6, 6-3, 7-5.

The good-looking 6-footer, who for years has been labelled strictly a doubles player and is ranked only 13th nationally, now becomes a key man in the United States' plans for recovering the Davis Cup — a bleak prospect.

The nation's No. 1 player, Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, lost in straight sets to Australia's Fred Stolle 7-5, 6-3, 9-7. Marty Riessen, his longtime doubles mate from Evanston, Ill., yielded a tough one to two-time champion Roy Emerson of Australia, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

Chuck McKinley of Port Washington, N. Y., bowed to Wimbledon champion and the defender, Manuel Santana of Spain 9-7, 9-7, 8-6.

"I would like to play Davis Cup singles but that is up to Captain MacCall (George MacCall, the U.S. captain)," Graebner said. "I just want to do anything I can to help the team."

This is a big year for Graebner. He won the Pennsylvania championships at Merion and went to the final of the Eastern at Orange, N. J. He teamed with Ralston to defeat the Mexicans in the American Zone final at Cleveland 5-0.

Graebner's big moment comes tomorrow when he plays Stolle, Ralston's conqueror, in the quarter-finals. If he wins, he gets a shot at the Emerson-Owen Davidson winner, another Aussie test.

The top half of the men's bracket was scheduled today with Santana facing Bill Bowrey, a 22-year-old Australian, and Mark Cox, the blond British bomber, opposing Australia"s John Newcombe. The latter put out America's Arthur Ashe Tuesday.

Two American girls — Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco — remain to challenge former champion Maria Bueno of Brazil in the women's division.

If Miss Richey wins, she plays the winner of today's other quarter-final test between 19-year-old Kerry Kelville, conqueror of Wimbledon champion Mrs. Billie Jean King, and pretty Madonna Schacht, both Australians.

The other half of the women's draw, scheduled Friday, sends Miss Buenos seeded No. 2, against Norma Baylon of Argentina, No. 6, and Miss Casals, No. 5, against fourth-seeded Francoise Durr of France.

'WILLIE'S ONLY HUMAN'

Stargell Slumps, Pirates Feel It

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "There's nothing wrong with Willie, he's only human," says Pirate Manager Harry Walker of Willie Stargell, currently fighting a batting slump.

Stargell's bat has been silent since last Thursday and Pittsburgh is beginning to feel it. They dropped their third straight last night as Atlanta romped over the Pirates 8-3. The setback cut their National League lead to a half-game over San Francisco, which edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 12 innings.

Stargell, the second half of Pittsburgh's one-two punch with Roberto Clemente, has watched his batting average skid from .330 last week to .313 — but he's optimistic.

"It's a funny thing, sometimes you go with a lot of hits and sometimes you don't," said the slugger in the Pirate dressing room after a one-for-four performance.

He went into last night's game with one hit in the last 26 times at bat. After flying out to Mack Jones in the first inning, he ended a 0-for-14 famine with a single to center. But in the fifth, with Clemente on second with a double, he was thrown out by Dennis Menke for the third out. Pitcher Ken Johnson got him on strikes in the eighth.

With 20 games to go, Stargell must get his form back if the Pirates are to win the pennant —and Walker knows it, but he's just as hopeful as Stargell.

"With so many games to play, you can't stay hot all the time," Walker says. "Once you get a little disturbed, you begin to fight it. It just takes a little while to get out of it."

Walker said he's not too upset "as long as we stay ahead of that other club."

And while Stargell continues in his slump, Felipe Alou of Atlanta boosted his average a notch to .329 while collecting his 200th hit of the season, the first player in either league to do so.

"Before the season started I saw some sports magazine saying the Braves would finish sixth or seventh and I would be the reason for it," said the 31-year-old Alou, adding that "I'm not through yet."

Atlanta, which won its third straight and eighth of its last nine, broke a 3-3 tie in the fifth with Bill Woodward's bases-loaded single.

Hank Aaron's double and singles by Eddie Mathews and Rico Carty added two more runs in the sixth. In the eighth, Aaron scored on Jones' single.

The Pirates bunched all their runs in the first. Johnson, who said he was worried about being taken out, shut out the Pirates in the last eight innings.

Walt Williams Tops Batters

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Walt Williams of Tulsa got three hits the last day of the season to win the PCL batting title with a .330 average, according to official statistician Bill Weiss.

He edged Denver's Rich Reese who led most of the season but wound up with a .327 mark. Williams also led in doubles with 54, runs scored with 107, and hits with 193.

(Williams is a former player for Litchfield's semi-pro team of San Rafael.)

Hank Allen of Hawaii had 288 total bases to lead that department while Tommy Murray's 26 homers were the lowest total to win that category in the PCL in the past 20 years.

Giants, Bucs, Dodgers Print Series Ducats

NEW YORK (AP)—Four major league teams had the green light today to print tickets for the World Series, which, barring a playoff, will open in a National League city Wednesday, Oct. 5.

Commissioner William Eckert said yesterday he had authorized American League leading Baltimore and the three top National League contenders—Pittsburgh, Los Angeles and San Francisco—to print 1966 Series tickets.

In the past, when teams located as close together as Baltimore and Pittsburgh played in the Series, there were no open dates.

However, Eckert said this year there will be a day off for travel "for the convenience of the players, as well as the fans, regardless of the teams or the cities involved."

He also said that in the event of a playoff there would be an open date between the end of the playoff and the start of the Series.

In case of a best-of-3 playoff, it would start the day after the regular season ends.

The series would move to the American League city Saturday, Oct. 8, Sunday Oct. 9 and Monday, Oct. 10, if necessary. If it goes beyond that point, play would resume in the National League city Wednesday, Oct. 12, and continue Thursday, Oct. 13, if necessary.

Ticket prices, Eckert said, would be the same as in the past, $12 for box seats, $8 for reserved grandstand, $4 for standing room and $2 for bleachers. The clubs will announce when they will accept ticket applications.

Marin Catholic's Spirit May Suprise Opposition

Independent-Journal Sports

36 Thurs., Sept. 8, 1966

(Third in a series on Marin Athletic League football prospects for 1966.

By RALPH CHATOIAN

There's optimism in the Marin Catholic camp for the upcoming Marin Athletic League football season. And it takes raw courage to be optimistic with a record of one league win in seven years of trying.

New varsity head coach Joel Kiff repeatedly has spoken this year of the team's attitude and good spirit and is very hopeful his chargers can pull a surprise or two during the year.

Marin will not be without some stars this season. With the likes of two-year lettermen John Grady and Rich Woodall and gutty John Komo, the question will be to knit a full team around some top-flight players.

"We have much more depth this year," said Kiff. "We have two or three good boys at some positions. We'll be able to platoon much more this year."

Woodall, 5-10, 234-pound center, and Grady, 160-pound wingback, have been first stringers two years at Marin. Komo, who was a first string tackle last year, has been shifted to fullback. He is 5-11, 188 pounds.

Other returning lettermen for the Wildcats are quarterbacks Pat Carney (6-1, 165) and Mike Giacomini (5-9, 175), guard George Foster (5-10, 190), halfback Kurt Guehring (5-8, 160), ends Stan Hardeman (5-9, 150) and Mark Stempel (5-9, 145), center Dennis Lee (5-10, 186), tackle Jim Silvestri (5-11, 205) and halfback Dan Snead (5-11, 178). All 12 of the returning lettermen are seniors.

Top senior candidates up from the junior varsity are Jim Giovanonni 5-11, 197) and Frank Luttringer (6-2, 198), both tackles. Junior standouts up from the jayvee are guard Nick Ferrua (5-8, 175), halfback Jim Finnegan (5-7, 165) and tackle Dave Huber (6-0, 205).

Sophomore Dan Fouts, up from the frosh team, is a strong candidate for the quarterback spot over the two seniors. He's 6-1, 145 pounds, and has shown the Marin Catholic coaching staff he wants to play football.

Kiff plans to use a slot-T with two split ends, opening up the game with passes and more passes. But he also adds that his backs have shown power up the middle.

"Hardeman and Stempel are both fast, and we have good power in Komo, Finnegan, Snead and Grady," Kiff said. "We should be balanced."

Kiff coached the junior varsity the past two years at Marin Catholic, last year winning two and tying one out of eight games. He picks Tamalpais, Drake and Novato to fight it out for the varsity championship. "After that, it will be pretty balanced," he added.

As for Marin Catholic's chances for an upset or two, Kiff said, "We have to get some blocking up front. A lot will depend on our line."

The Wildcats open their season Friday, Sept. 16, against Albany High, the only team they beat last year. The Wildcats won that one, 12-6, and lost their other seven. That Sept. 16 game will be played at Albany, 3:30 p.m.

Helping Kiff with the varsity gridders will be Mike Burke, recent graduate from San Francisco State.

Grid Festival Saturday To Open Pop Warner Schedule

Six Marin County Pop Warner football teams open season play with a three-game festival, all for the price of one, Saturday at College of Marin.

Some 240 boys, in the 10-13 age bracket, and weighing no more than 123 pounds, will be knocking heads before some 4,000 fans expected to attend the annual affair.

Bob Toneff, former all-pro Notre Dame All-American and San Francisco 49er, will make his debut as the line coach of the Drake Junior Pirates, in the 9 p.m. game. Toneff stated the boys in the league have been excellently conditioned and wear the finest football equipment for this rugged sport.

Last year's co-champions, the San Rafael Junior Bulldogs coached by Neal Johnston, square off in the opening game with Novato Junior Hornets at 5 p.m. Head coach Len Genetin of the Hornets, who tied for last year's title, is an early season favorite to repeat.

Since the league ended in a three-way tie, the other titlist, Terra Linda Junior Tropans, coached by Jim Finegan, meet the Tam Junior Indians for the 7 p.m. game. Coach Herb Smith of the Indians will feature a newcomer, Joe Inglish, a fast elusive back as the heart of his offense.

Mike Roberts, mentor of the Redwood Junior Giants, will test his team against the Drake Junior Pirates for the 9 p.m. closer. In his fourth year leading the Pirates, Tony Barbera hopes that the Toneff-taught line will succeed. Toneoff claims to be more nervous for this upcoming game than when he first tried out for the San Francisco 49er.

49ers Will Be Healthy For Opener

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—San Francisco's 49ers lost all their exhibition games but at least they will be healthy for the National Football League opener Sunday in San Francisco against the Minnesota Vikings.

At yesterday's practice here, Coach Jack Christiansen noted that all 22 starting 49ers are in shape. Jim Johnson, a defensive back who missed the last preseason tilt, was back and running.

He said the Vikes have a "wide-open offense and a defense that has lost its middle linebacker." Rip Hawkins retired.

PRO FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Namath May Sit On Bench; Big, BIG Opener For NFL

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Namath, the New York Jets' $400,000 quarterback, was the American Football League's Rookie-of-the-Year in 1965, but tomorrow he might only be sophomore-on-the-bench.

Jets' Coach Weeb Ewbank says Namath is "physically able and ready to play," but adds that "it's a toss-up who will start against the Miami Dolphins — Joe or Mike Taliaferro."

It is not that Namath has not been on target. Ewbank said both players have looked good in practice this week.

But how do you tell Taliaferro, who directed the Jets through an unbeaten exhibition season after Namath injured his knee in the first quarter of the first game, that he is not starting?

The new Dolphins, looking for their first victory after five exhibition losses and a near miss loss to Oakland in their opener last week, were not taking any chances. They prepared for Namath or Taliaferro.

"We know both are good passers," Coach George Wilson said, "and that Taliaferro has led them to four straight victories."

The National Football League opens its season this weekend and the first game is a dandy, pitting defending Western Division champion Baltimore against Green Bay, picked by many to unseat the Colts this season. That game in Milwaukee will be nationally televised.

The rest of the NFL schedule will be played Sunday. Only Dallas has the weekend off. Cleveland plays at Washington, Los Angeles at Atlanta, Chicago at Detroit, Minnesota at San Francisco, New York at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia at St. Louis.

The AFL has Oakland at Houston and Boston at San Diego on Saturday night and Kansas City at Buffalo on national television Sunday.

In pro football action yesterday, fullback Nick Pietrosante, cut loose Monday by the Detroit Lions, said he expects to sign with another club within three days.

He said two NFL teams and three AFL teams had contacted him. He declined to name them, but Denver of the AFL said it was bidding for his services.

Veteran quarterback George Izo, released by Detroit with Pietrosante, was working out with Pittsburgh. The Steelers got down to the 40-player limit by cutting Steve Barnett, a guard from Stanford.

St. Louis trimmed two veterans, Chuck Logan, a tight end, and guard Jim Battle.

Atlanta released eight more players. They are Jimmy Sidle, a running back from Auburn; Preston Ridlehuber, former Georgia quarterback; guard Ralph Wenzel of San Diego State; flanker and defensive back Bob Sherlag, who came from Los Angeles, end Dan LaRose, acquired from San Francisco, and tackle Frank McLendon, acquired from Baltimore. The other two names were not disclosed.

WARRIORS DEAL AWAY GUY RODGERS

The San Francisco Warriors have given up guard Guy Rodgers to the Chicago Bulls, new entry in the National Basketball Assn.

Klein said the Bulls will give up players or draft choices, plus cash for the eight-year veteran who has played in the last three NBA All-Star games.

In San Francisco, the Warriors did not go into details about why Rodgers was sent to the Bulls without getting an established star. There was a hint that the Warriors are looking for guards taller than the 6-foot Rodgers.

The last tennis player to win the Wimbledon championships three years in a row was Fred Perry (1934-35-36).

Wills, Tom Davis Exchange Words

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Sharp words, but no blows, were exchanged last night by Dodger captain Maury Wills and left fielder Tommy Davis shortly before the Dodgers lost a 12-inning game to the San Franciso Giants 3-2.

The exchange came in the dugout after Davis apparently failed to acknowledge a signal from Wills in the eighth inning.

Manager Walter Alston said "There were no punches that I saw, and I also foresee no major problem resulting from this. Everyone is on edge, which is only natural. I'm sure there is nothing serious but if there is I'll do my best to straighten it out."

Congratulations To Marin Group For A Successful Alaskan Hunt

A limit is a limit, is a limit, is a limit. Nothing very unusual about a guy or gal taking a limit of fish, or deer, or bear, or dove. But when a quintet of nifty nimrods go clear to the hinderland of Alaska, and with permits to bag a moose, a dall sheep and a carabou, and all five make the grade, it becomes news. So here are congratulations to genial Gene Thompson of Western Sports Shop in San Rafael and his four companions, Jim Jacobson of Novato, Don Camiccia of San Anselmo, George Davis of San Rafael and Peter Thornton of San Rafael.

STEVENS

TALKING TO GENE, I learned that the quintet flew to Fairbanks, took a train to Healey and from Healey they packed into an area southeast of Mt. McKinley. If you have a yen to emulate Gene and his pals, I suggest you call Thompson.

Gene also talked of some fair to good shore fishing for stripers off Buckeye Point above China Camp, and said Emory Dawson with Al Johnson limited out off the Brothers, drift fishing with dead anchovies.

BETTY URBAIS OF the Sausalito Boat and Tackle called to report 38 fishermen aboard the "Blue Horizon" hauling in 684 assorted rockfish and 10 lings to 10 pounds on Saturday.

"On our special Sunday trip after rockfish the score was very good also. There were 552 rocks and 12 lings to 26 pounds. The boat, 'Blue Fin,' netted 14 salmon to 15 pounds, and the 'New Merimac' boated 20 salmon to 25 pounds. The jellyfish took over the light-ship area so the boats moved closer to shore," Betty said.

IT'S OFFICIAL now. With the exception of Tulelake and Colorado areas, the duck season throughout California will be Oct. 22-Jan. 4, with a bag and possession limit of seven ducks. Goose season, Oct. 22-Jan. 8, with bag and possession limit of six geese, only three of which may be of the dark species. The exceptions? Tulelake area: Duck and goose season—Oct. 8-Jan. 5. Duck bag limits, five per day, 10 in possession. (The daily bag may be increased to six provided three or more are snow geese.) Colorado River area: Duck and goose season Oct. 11-Jan. 8. Duck bag limit: Five per day, 10 in possession. Geese bag limit is six per day. Not less than three snow geese nor more than three geese of the dark species can be included in the bag, and only two can be Canada geese or subspecies.

Koller Slugs Three Homers

Ron Koller hit three successive home runs, including a grand slam, to lead Paradise Cove to a 15-5 victory over the San Rafael Teachers last Tuesday in the Slow Pitch Softball League sponsored by the San Rafael Recreation Department, at Albert Park.

In regular softball action, Cain's Tire whipped the Emporium softballers, 13-3, and Perry's Delicatessen shaded Kaeler Construction, 4-3.

San Rafael Firemen Whip Sausalito, 11-5

Larry Kline and Tom Rawlins hit back-to-back homers in the sixth inning yesterday to pace the San Rafael firemen to a 11-5 victory over Sausalito in Marin County Firemen's League softball action in Sausalito.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Saturn, Jupiter, Mars and Venus. The evening star is Saturn.

United States Sen. Robert Taft was born on this day in 1889.

On this day in history:

In 1855, the Crimean War ended.

In 1900, some 5,000 persons were killed when a tornado and tidal wave struck Galveston, Tex.

In 1934, the United States liner Morro Castle burned off Asbury Park, N.J. taking 137 lives.

A thought for the day— British writer and playwright George Bernard Shaw said: "Silence is the most perfect expression of scorn."

OPENING LEAD

He then led a heart to try a finesse with dummy's nine.

South didn't know what to do. Should he let the nine ride as a finesse, or should he put up dummy's king of diamonds?

NOTHING HELPS

South should have read West's mind.

Why does a defender lead a trump when the bidding gives him no reason to fear ruffing tricks in the dummy?

A trump opening lead is fairly common when the leader has strength in two or three suits.

It is very uncommon if the leader has strength in only one suit; he will then lead one of his weak side suits in the hope of setting up a trick for his partner.

This points to the correct play in diamonds, and the contract then comes home.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass. The hand is not quite worth an opening bid.

If the clubs were headed by the king instead of the queen, you would have a minimum opening bid.

Session Shuts Lower In Moderate Trading

Here was the picture near the close:

At 12:30 p.m. the Dow Jones industrial average was off 10.41, kwell below the closing low of Aug. 29. It recovered to show a loss of 3.73 at 773.66 at 2 p.m.

Some stocks took wide losses when the market was at its worst but these were cut back considerably.

In late dealings IBM and Corning Glass were down about 5; Bristol-Myers 4; Fairchild Camera 6, and Tidewater Oil 3.

Off about 2 were Hecla Mining, Scientific Data, Continental Air Lines, Avon Products, Du Pont and United Aircraft.

Down about a point were General Dynamics, General Motors, Anaconda, Merck, Texas Instruments, Litton Industries and General Instrument.

Around mid-day the market was at its worst, showing a loss of more than 10 points in the Dow Jones industrial average. Word spread thereafter that President Johnson was calling a news conference.

Prices improved after this report circulated. The belief in Wall Street was that the President would announce some fiscal proposals aimed at improving the high interest rate-tight money situation.

Glamor stocks, which had been among the worst losers, improved, some showing sizable gains.

NEENAH, Wis. Braden Asks Parents To Instruct

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Thomas W. Braden, president of the state board of education, said parents have let some of their responsibilities slip to the schools and called on them to instruct and train their children in some basic attitudes.

"Parents are making increasing demands on the schools and on those who labor in them," Braden said, "and the schools are assuming more and more of the responsibilities formerly reserved to the home and family.

"Education, however, must always be a cooperative enterprise between the school and family and I, therefore, have no hesitation in asking parents to cooperate," he said. "I ask that prior to the resumption of classes, each parent sit down with his child for a few extra minutes and stress these points."

1. Good citizenship is not a product of school courses but is based on a student's respect for law and order, meaning respect for school regulations and teachers.

2. A good academic start on the school year is worth many times as much as belated effort.

3. Respect for and cooperation with the teacher can bring joy of learning, lasting friendship and memories which will lend strength to a lifetime.

4. Vandalism or careless use of school property, whether a building, a playground, a desk or a book, is self-destruction, for the schools belong to the students and their parents.

Reed School Enrollment Surpassing Expectations

Supt. H. Joe Edgington told the Reed School District board Tuesday night that the district's fall enrollment is surpassing predictions.

"The population at Granada School has far exceeded our porjection," he declared. "If the apartment houses in the vicinity suddenly open up this fall, we'll be in trouble."

Edgington said he had averted overcrowding in first grades at Tiburon and Belvedere schools. With 85 pupils entered in three classes, he added a fourth class to bring them down to 21 and 22.

Other trouble spots, he said, are in fifth and sixth grades at Reed school. About 1,800 pupils had already started classes this week, with 1,830 expected by the end of next week. Last year's enrollment was 1,759.

The board set for Sept. 20 discussion of policies on transfer of pupils from other districts and use of school facilities by commercial groups. Edgington said nine pupils from other districts are enrolled in Reed District schools.

The board hired Mrs. Mary Huddleston as second grade teacher at Tiburon school, at $6,785 annually.

New Camera Helps Study Of Sea Floor

Dropped over the side of a ship, the camera descends freely to the ocean bottom, where it automatically begins taking pictures at a rate of one every 15 minutes. After a preset length of time, which can be up to several days, the device shuts itself off and rises to the surface.

Three 30-to-60-hour missions were completed off Cape Colnett, Baja, at depths of 4,560 feet, 6,788 feet, and 11,262 feet. From 100 to 240 clear, distinct photographs were taken at 15-minute intervals during each mission. On one of them, color photographs were taken.

The free vehicle enables long time-sequence photography of one area of the sea floor, and can also be used with a baited lure to attract and concentrate benthic, or ocean bottom, creatures.

Libby Was Ideal For Better Business Bureau

Vernon A. Libby of Fairfax, general manager of the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, was ideally suited for the job, which he held since January, 1955.

We regret that Libby has been forced by health conditions to retire from that job and take a less active role—as management consultant for the Better Business Bureau.

Libby is a quiet-mannered, unassuming type who has strong feelings on the need for observance of the highest ethical standards in advertising and selling.

Despite his burning desire to get these ideas across, he refrained from coercive tactics and employed, instead, calm persuasion and appeal to reason.

Since the whole concept of the Better Business Bureau is based on voluntary self regulation of business and industry, the Bureau could not have had a better man to serve as general manager for the past 12 years.

As a result, the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, which serves Marin and the Bay Area, has enjoyed considerable success in raising the ethical standards where most needed in the business community.

Unquestionably it is far better for business and industry to do this on a voluntary, cooperative basis through the Better Business Bureau than for the government to step in with force and coercion. More often than not, government efforts to enforce ethics in any field wind up causing difficulties that overshadow any good that might result.

The Governor's Consumer Counsel has been stressing the need for consumers to have full information correctly stated on household goods. But all too often, government efforts to regulate advertising and selling practices have the opposite effect—that of limiting the amount of information that goes to prospective customers.

Because the Better Business Bureau can do a better job of voluntary improvement of ethical standards, we wish it continued success.

We regret that Libby, our fellow Marin resident from Fairfax, is forced to retire as general manager, but we are glad he is able to continue as a management consultant.

Furthermore, Libby's successor is another Marin resident—Charles R. Thurber, who has moved to Terra Linda. We welcome him to the county and wish him every success.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Curious Logic On Welfare Cost

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In defending the abuses in Governor Brown's welfare program which I pointed out in my letter published Aug. 19, Gerald Amada has resorted to some curious logic (Letters to the Editor, Sept. 1). He minimizes the $800,000,000 welfare cost (since estimated at $1.6 billion by the Legislative Analyst) by comparing it with national defense expenditures (hardly an issue in the State election) and by dividing the total state population into it and coming up with an "average per capita expenditure" of $40 a year. The only trouble with this figure is that it includes welfare recipients as well as non-recipients. Actually, according to a recent estimate published in your paper, the average state taxpayer is shelling out $40 a MONTH for welfare.

Mr. Amada states that it is OK for recipients of aid to needy children funds to buy jewelry for their boy friends as long as no child neglect is involved. Most taxpayers would prefer to have this money expended for the benefit of the children rather than for diamond rings for the women's boy friends.

In justifying the expenditure of state taxes for educational expenses of welfare department employees seeking higher degrees while on leave, Mr. Amada assures us that these employees will return to work for the State and points out that private industry also follows this practice (but not using state tax money!). Unfortunately, a major portion of the funds for Johnson's Poverty Program is being spent in inflated salaries for bureaucrats, many of whom are deserting state welfare jobs to accept these sinecures.

Mr. Amada brings up the factor of unemployment as a reason for large welfare expenditures. While abuses and inflated costs have been increasing state taxes, representatives of cities outside the state have been conducting an intense campaign to lure California industrial employers away citing high taxes here as an inducement for leaving.

Finally, Mr. Amada exclaims that the Governor's campaign would be "enhanced if he could remain unembarrassed by such unembarrassing questions . . . raised by uninformed opponents." Apparently, Pat decided the best way to be "unembarrassed" on this issue was to blame his welfare director for the whole mess and get him to resign—which the latter did, by appropriate coincidence, on the date Mr. Amada's letter was published.

Mill Valley Annexation Hit

Editor, Independent-Journal:

We hope the map on the front page of Wednesday's I.J. (Aug. 31), outlining Mill Valley's proposed gigantic annexation has been scrutinized closely enough to observe the care which has been taken in drawing the metes and bounds of this opulent package which, in the Strawberry area, will inevitably result in the defloration of the Strawberry community.

The irregular borders of the small, white, unshaded portion of the map encompass those UNWANTED areas which are inhabited by 90-95 per cent of the Strawberry residents; and the WANTED, shaded portions include the bulk of Strawberry's acreage and its virtually uninhabited land, not requiring resident voter approval for annexation.

The success of this proposal would strip Strawberry of its "dowry," without which no contiguous, interested city could afford to consider it as a "candidate for marriage." (Nor does Strawberry, even intact, have the necessary resources to be established as a responsible incorporated city, much less to survive aloof, maintaining the status quo.)

Having recognized that this proposed, blatant and reckless, land theft is a SERIOUS intention, we cannot believe the Mill Valley City Council — the elected representatives of that pleasant community — will favor, much less support, this immoral, irresponsible expression of greed.

Should our belief prove false, we have profound faith and conviction that the moral, honest, fair-minded leaders and citizens of this immediate area, the County and the State, will refuse to permit the proposed ravaging of the viable and progressive Strawberry community.

Wage Salad Binds Government Worker

Editor, Independent-Journal:

This being Labor Day, I thought it a good time to air this subject.

Two weeks ago ice-berg lettuce at the United Market in San Anselmo was two heads for 49 cents.

Last week the price went to 25 cents per pound. I picked out one firm head and it cost 50 cents for one head.

So from two heads for 49 cents to one head for 50 cents is a 100 per cent increase.

I'm a government worker and just received a 2.9 per cent increase. How many such pay raises will I need to be able to afford lettuce at 100 per cent increases?

Urban Renewal Turndown Urged

Editor, Independent-Journal:

"Liberty Lobby" published in Washington, D.C., by a conservative group supported by subscribers asks its members or readers to write their representatives to vote against House Bill 15890 — Urban Renewal — to be headed by Cabinet member Weaver.

This bill is against the American way of life, gives one man, Weaver, too much power, and is another way to spend America into bankruptcy which the Communists want and can easily be done under present government spending. The real title to the bill is "Demonstration Cities" bill.

Mechanics Strike Deonstrated Airlines Services Dehumanized

By DAVID HOFFMAN

(Roscoe Drummond is on vacation.)

WASHINGTON—The recent mechanics' strike against five U.S. airlines produced a curious by-product: it reminded many a seasoned traveler that airline service is being dehumanized.

For 43 frustrating days, those who rode the flying airlines were people basically dependent on airline travel. These expense account businessmen, by and large, represented the most experienced air travelers in America, the cognoscenti of the airways. Conceding that the non-struck airlines flew under huge handicaps, they also became aware that U.S. airlines, in terms of what they once offered, are skimping when it comes to passenger service.

NEVER BEFORE have the airlines offered more flights, faster flights and better baggage handling between major U.S. cities. But never before have they earned so much money in the process. So-called trunklines earned $135 million in 1964 and $220 million last year, thus exceeding what the Civil Aeronautics Board has called a "reasonable return on dollar investment."

Nevertheless, in tourist cabins of today's big jets, passengers sit six-abreast and elbow-to-elbow, their knees held high and rigid because of a briefcase or hatbox stowed beneath the seat in front. By eliminating one row of seats, the airline could provide shelf space for all those briefcases. But the lost seat row would cost about $1,000 in lost revenue on a full trans-continental flight.

STEWARDESSES TROT up and down the aisle, shaking awake dozing passengers, urging those who wish two cocktails to order both simultaneously. Two stewardesses may rush supper to 100 passengers in an hour, not because the Federal Aviation Agency prohibits more stewardesses in the cabin but because the airlines feel two can offer adequate service.

Jetliners with two spacious exits wheel up to a terminal building and are met by one mobile stairway. Passengers form a line inside and shove their way from the airplane.

Rarely do cabin attendants pass out magazines to tourist class passengers. Almost never do they offer information on connecting flights—information easily obtained over the cockpit radio. Often do the airlines announce a 15-minute delay and repeat it four times, when, from the beginning, they knew the delay would last one hour.

IF A FLIGHT is detoured to an alternate airport because of bad weather, the airline offers the frustrated passengers a five-hour bus ride to their destination instead of overnight accommodations and a next-morning flight. The traveler who noisily demands an overnight billet probably will get one from the airline. But few seem to know that this is their right.

Swayed by Madison Avenue, the airlines use glamorous nicknames to disguise the kinds of planes they operate. Thus the Boeing 727 becomes a "Whisperjet" or an "Astrojet" so long as it remains airborne. But when four crashed recently, the nicknames were quickly forgotten.

Hoover Warns Spies Among Red Visitors

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Viet Nam war may be putting a crimp in U. S. - Soviet diplomatic and cultural relations, but it isn't slowing down the flow of Russian scientists and industrial experts to the U. S.

MORE THAN 300 Soviet scientists, including 30 now in the U. S., have come here since September 1965 to attend a wide variety of technical conferences, to study at universities and to tour private and government installations of all kinds.

This large stream of Russian visitors represents an increase of 25 per cent over the number that came to the U. S. during a comparable period the year before.

One 18-man Soviet delegation, the largest from any foreign country, is now attending the International Conference on High Energy Physics at the University of California, Berkeley. Three East German scientists are attending the same conference at the invitation of the Atomic Energy Commission.

OTHER RUSSIAN delegations and individual scientists now in this country or who were here in the past 12 months did research or participated in meetings dealing with oceanography, petroleum geophysics, chemistry, astrophysics, electronics, computers, meterology, atmospheric sciences, medicine, space, mathematics, atomic energy, documentation, urban planning and machine tools.

While the U. S. sent approximately the same number of scientists to Russia, most of these visits consisted of delegations attending international conferences rather than individual scientists touring Soviet installations.

These are the high lights of a State Department study of U. S. - Soviet exchange programs submitted to the House Appropriations Committee.

THE SURVEY stresses the Kremlin's intent interest in obtaining information regarding U. S. scientific, engineering and technical advances.

IN STRIKING CONTRAST to the Russians' maximum utilization of scientific exchanges regardless of their denunciation of the Viet Nam war, they are using the conflict as an alibi for drastically curtailing cultural exchanges.

THE HOUSE Appropriations Committee is examining still another report that deals with the extremely important problem of espionage growing out of exchange visits by Russian scientists.

Prepared by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, the report warns that spies are included in virtually every Soviet group that comes to the U. S., whether they are diplomats, scientists, businessmen, students and performers of various kinds.

"The numerous Soviet scientific and cultural delegations which arrive in the U. S. to visit our universities and scientific establishment," states the report, "invariably have among their members scientists who have been given special assignments by the KGB (Soviet secret police). An average of 50 per cent of all members of Soviet exchange groups are connected with the KGB or other Russian Intelligence agencies."

BORIS KLOSSON, the State Department official who had a hand in clearing the way for Lee Harvey Oswald to return from Russia, is now director of the U. S. - Soviet exchange program. Although no announcement of this assignment was made, Klosson has been in charge of the exchange program for nearly a year.

According to the records of the Warren Commission, which investigated the assassination of President Kennedy, Klosson was counselor for political affairs in the Moscow embassy in 1961 when Oswald sought visas for himself and his Russian wife to return to the U. S. Oswald went to the Soviet in 1959.

DOG IS TWICE A HERO

As the nine-month-old child rolled over and began to choke in her blankets, the dog rushed to the next room and tugged the mother back to the baby. She restored the child with mouth-to-mouth breathing. Doctors later praised the dog's timely intervention.

A year later the German shepherd became a hero a second time. This time the house caught fire and three children were trapped in the bedroom. The alert animal's barking brought the parents to the rescue.

Love by itself cannot change the world, but no amount of practical action without love can ever begin to do the job.

(1 Corinthians 16:14)

Bay Housing Council Is Asking Heavy Segregation Legislation

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The Bay Area Housing Council, composed of representatives from "human rights" organizations, has asked the Fair Employment Practices Commission in effect to quarantine apartment house owners who have complaints against them alleging discriminatory practices.

The so-called "human rights" organizations are made up of people drawing government salaries to implement the Anti-Poverty program, which is financed with taxpayers' money.

IN A SERIES of demands to the Fair Employment Practices Commission relating to enforcement of the Rumford Housing Act, the housing council asked that regulations be adopted which would require the posting of every apartment house against which a complaint on discrimination was lodged.

Nowhere in the demand does there appear to be any realization that even though a complaint on discrimination might be lodged against an apartment house owner that the precept of law in California and the United States is that an accused person is innocent until proven guilty of a law violation.

Whether the housing council is premature in its demand for this type of enforcement concerning the Rumford Act is a question, as the measure still is before the courts, to be specific, the United States Supreme Court.

The Fair Employment Practices Commission hardly waited until the ink was dry on the state supreme court decision, which told more than four million California voters they were incapable of nullifying laws they wanted nullified, before the commission announced it would start enforcement of the housing act once again.

THE QUARANTINE requested by the housing council, however, apparently was just a little more than the normally biased Fair Employment Practices Commission could stand. as Chairman C. L. Dellums said the "suggestion would require careful legal study."

It is fairly well conceded in legal circles that any such quarantine action by the Fair Employment Practices Commission could result in slander against members of the commission.

In addition to the proposed quarantine, the housing council asked that additional public money be spent to establish an evening and week-end service, so that individuals with complaints would not have to wait until the next morning, or Monday morning to accuse apartment house owners of discrimination.

ALSO, THEY want "human rights" groups to have police authority to receive complaints for transmittal to the Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Further, they want posters for all apartment houses and tract developers to inform the public that the particular housing accommodations involved are covered by fair housing laws. This, of course, includes development by private industry, and financing with private money.

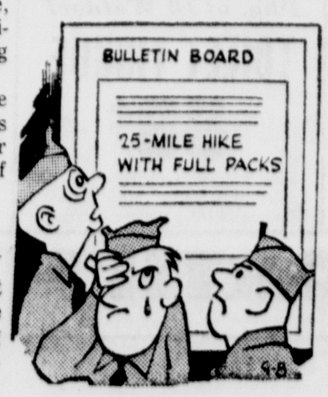
There was a roar of laughter. The captain pretended he hadn't heard—but the following morning this notice appeared on the bulletin board: "Company A will take a 25-mile hike today with full packs. And a little child shall lead them—riding a big, white horse."



THE FAMOUS lawyer Clarence Darrow once won a very tough case for a beautiful client, and as they walked out of court into the sunshine she fluttered her eyelashes at him and cooed, "How can I ever show my gratitude?" "My dear young lady," replied Darrow gallantly, "ever since the Phoenicians invented money, there has been only one sound answer to that question."

San Rafael Has Come Of Age... Just Look At That City Hall

San Rafael has just grown up.

WHAT DID IT was that move up Fifth Avenue from a tiny, ugly old city hall to that big, shiny and oh-so-adequate building two blocks away.

Taking the guided tour for the first time, one cannot help seeing the whole city crew—from City Mgr. Dan E. Andersen on down to the janitors—in a wholly different light.

Just think about your uncle Fred or cousin Charlie coming through town for his first and only look at San Rafael. If you took him, last summer, to see that funny little yellow building across from the courthouse, you can bet he went away thinking, "small town."

WATCH WHAT they say when you take them through this shiny Taj Mahal up the street.

"Growing town you have here, Henry," they'll say (provided your name is Henry.) Or maybe even "pretty good sized city you've got."

AT WORST, they'll say, "Not going to be a small town much longer, is it?"

There has been a lot of arguing, and more than a little snickering, about the "building designed by a committee." As for all that copper around the outside—well, some people like it, but at least one man in town says it is an "architectural monstrosity." I am sure they will be debating that when the stuff has long turned green, but I'll take the fifth. Inside, however, I think its grand.

IT CANNOT help but reflect itself in improved morale, and hopefully a better job, from the city government.

The police, who often complain of being treated crassly by John Q. Citizen, have certainly climbed a couple of notches in the Image Department with the move. They ought to see to it that everyone sees their fine new quarters, and while they're at it, they might flash around snapshots of how dreadful the old place was.

No doubt, within a year or two, the rookies on the force will all be indoctrinated with folklore of what it was like down in the basement. Believe me, fellows, it is all true.

Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, the first American to step outside a spaceship, recalled that on June 3, 1965, "I was taking Hawaii, then California, Texas some big steps, the first on —lightly in deference to the President—Florida, and the last on the Bahamas and Bermuda."

GOP Needs A Candidate Like Bobby Kennedy For '68 Campaign

I have always thought myself an exemplary reactionary, completely unmindful of the plight of others. I have never hesitated to beat my wife when she crossed me, and sometimes have done so for the sheer heck of it. At birth, both my children were thrust naked into a raging snowstorm and were taken back only beacuse, after a week, they managed to survive.

It is my practice to kick stray dogs, and I have consistently fought for the restoration of child labor, slavery and the guillotine. My hero is Simon Legree and my favorite heroine Marie Antoinette.

BUT PRIDE GOETH before a fall and I now discover, to my utter dismay, that I have an Achillean heel after all.

The cries at the Wailing Wall of that GOP minority known as Moderate Republicans have been so piteous of late, and their direful plight so played up in the communications media, that I find myself, like Ebenezer Scrooge, somewhat hesitantly lending a sympathetic ear.

In case you don't know what a Moderate Republican is — and I've asked myself that question often — it's a fellow who is only moderately Republican — about 10 per cent. The other 90 per cent of him welcomes the Welfare State as enthusiastically as any liberal Democrat.

The sect has just held a conclave, the results of which account for the dreadful lamentations now filling the air. Theirs is the eternal tragedy of a minority unable to impose its will on the majority.

IN STATE AFTER state primary, they have witnessed the shameful spectacle of conservative GOP candidates triumphing over moderates by sheer force of numbers. One man one vote, they feel, is a principle that should not be carried to extremes.

If, they warn, the great Republican majority adheres to its basic tenets and nominates a conservative in 1968, the moderates will once more sit on their hands and the GOP lose heavily again. But if the majority who stuck by the party in 1964 will forget principles and yield the reins to the defectors, the party can make a comeback. If we are to have a welfare state, why not let Republicans run it?

Well, it's an argument. And though, like the rest of the 27,000,000 faithful, I couldn't care less under whose auspices we finally liquidate the Republic the men of '76 gave us, I hereby extend a helping hand and offer what should prove a winning 1968 ticket. Even though I have a fishing date and so don't promise to vote for it.

FOR PRESIDENT — Robert Kennedy. The latest pools show he is now leading LBJ among Democrats, but practical politics decrees he can not run on that ticket in 1968. But with a united Republican Party nominating him and millions of Democrats crossing over, he'd be a shoo-in.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT — Hubert H. Humphrey. I devoted a column recently to Hubert's extraordinary qualifications for this job, where he can be kept quiet. The Demos would undoubtedly also nominate him — and Hubert would thus be certain to stay in the post where he can do the least possible damage. Sen. Javits will just have to wait.

Nor should the convention overlook making recommendations for other important posts, to be filled by distinguished citizens of unassailable integrity. This would win over some fence-straddlers who might otherwise find it difficult to cast a GOP ballot.

How about a pledge to make Linus Pauling our Chief of Staff? To give the first vacancy on the Supreme Court to Howard F. Corcoran, the famous jurist who tried to prevent a House Committee from investigating our pro Vietcong activists? And to make Louis Lomax, who silenced five right-wing programs on a radio station, head of the FCC?

There is a winning combination that would not only sweep the country, but restore American prestige in Hanoi, Moscow and Peiping, where it is now at an all-time low.

And, in addition, it would serve the highly useful purpose — long the aim of the Moderates — of driving the conservatives out of the GOP forever. What more do you want?

Tomales Expects Big Enrollment Increase

Tomales Elementary School expects nearly 40 per cent increase in enrollment when school opens Monday, according to Principal David L. Raffo.

Enrollment was 154 on opening day last year and 145 the previous year. It is expected to be around 215 this year, he said.

In addition to the normal growth, the increase is due to opening the district's first kindergarten class, annexation of the Bloomfield School District in Sonoma County, and an interdistrict attendance agreement with American Valley School District, which is to be annexed to the Tomales Bay district next year.

Local Business Greets Teachers During Luncheon

Almost 100 businessmen, school officials and civic leaders attended a luncheon yesterday at Sabella's of Marin to welcome new teachers in Mill Valley elementary schools and Tamalpais High School.

Thirty-nine new teachers were introduced at the luncheon, the ninth annual welcome sponsored by the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce. Of these, 21 women and four men will teach in the Mill Valley School District, and nine women and five men will teach at Tamalpais High School.

Principal speaker was County Supervisor Peter H. Behr, who urged the teachers to "give children a chance to fly—not to assume that they can fly, but that they have wings, and that they will grow."

Court Prayer Ruling Draws Varied Results

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The U.S. Supreme Court notwithstanding, school children are still reciting the Lord's Prayer in Jacksonville, Fla.

In Boston, the school day opens with a minute of silence. A child may pray if he chooses. Or he may "meditate," or just stare out of the window.

GREAT VARIETY

In Pittsburgh, the school board has published a 276-page book containing quotations from Aristotle, Plato, Shakespeare, Daniel Webster, Walt Whitman and other savants. Classroom opening exercises feature readings from this book rather than readings from the Bible.

This variety of practice was disclosed by a nationwide UPI survey of the ways in which public schools are adjusting to the Supreme Court's 1963 ruling on classroom devotional exercises.

Prior to the court ruling, nearly half of the nation's schools followed the custom of beginning each day with a brief religious service. It typically included recitation of the Lord's Prayer and the reading of a passage of Scripture.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL

In the now famous case of Abingdon School District vs. Schempp, the high court held this widespread practice to be unconstitutional. It said the First Amendment, which guarantees religious liberty, precludes a public school from sponsoring an act of worship.

However, the court emphasized that public schools can and should teach objectively about the role religion has played in history and in shaping America's heritage. It commended literary study of the Bible as an essential aspect of a well rounded education.

As schools began the third academic year since the court handed down its decision, UPI reporters in 56 cities were assigned to find out what impact the ruling has had.

In many areas of the South, where the population is wholly or predominantly Protestant, children still are beginning each school day with prayer and Bible reading.

Outside the South, most public schools are complying with the court ruling. Their opening exercises, if any, are devoid of any explicitly religious content. However, it is increasingly common practice to provide for a period of "silent meditation" which may be used for voluntary private prayer.

Many Southern school systems have sidestepped the whole issue of compliance with the court ruling by leaving it up to individual teachers to decide what they will do about classroom exercises.

An official of the South Carolina Educational Assn. told UPI reporter Lewis Lord that "teachers are continuing to do what they have always done"—Which is to say, most of them are holding daily devotional exercises.

WILL CONTINUE

"We are still having devotionals in our classrooms and will continue to do so unless we receive a legitimate complaint from one of our citizens," said C. A. Lindsay, superintendent of schools for Hampton, Va.

In the Midwest and Far West, the court ruling has had little impact because most schools in these areas were not holding devotional exercises anyway.

In the East, however, many school systems had to change traditional policies in order to come into line with the court ruling.

A silent mediation period also has been adopted by Massachusetts and many schools in the neighboring New England states of New Hampshire and Rhode Island.

NO PRESSURE

Mrs. Gilbert R. Devine, a teacher in Pawtucket, R.I., told UPI that no pressure is brought on children to use the period for prayer, but so far as she can tell from visual observation, "about 80 per cent appear to be saying a prayer."

In New York City, the Board of Education has repealed a 100-year-old regulation requiring that school assembly programs open with Bible reading. For a time, the board stipulated that children begin each day by singing the 4th stanza of "America," which is a prayer set to music. But this ran into objections and the present rule calls for the singing of any patriotic song, followed by the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Nearly all public schools do some objective teaching about religion but it usually is an incidental aspect of courses in history or literature.
